Parfit Bros. Awarded Cold Storage Contract MACHINE FOR RACETRACKS

LOCAL FIRM SUBMITS BEST BID ON PLANT

Ogden Point Storage Warehouse To Be Ready for Operation by April, Says H. G. Brown, Making Award of Contract To-day; White Labor, British Columbia Cement and Sidney Roofing To Be Used In Undertaking.

Parfit Bros. have been awarded the contract for the construction of the Ogden Point plant of the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Limited, in competition with many firms bidding from Seattle, Vancouver and Island points, it was announced by H. G. Brown, managing director of the company to-day.

The contract awarded is for the erection of the main building, a five-story steel and concrete structure, which is to be ready for opening in April, 1929. The consideration was not named, but the successful tender was the lowest bid received, it was stated.

Coupled with this announcement by Mr. Brown was his assurance that B.C. Cement Company and Sidney Roofing and Paper Company products would be used in the work, together with as large a proportion of local materials as is found possible.

Local white labor only will be used in the contract, which was signed between the principals to-day.

Two other contracts have yet to be awarded, one for the equipment, and the other for two smaller building units required in the operation of the plant. The total cost of the undertaking has been estimated as in the neighborhood of $550,000.

STORAGE SPACE AMPLE
The main building, which will face on the waterfront, will have the heads of the two piers at Ogden Point, will be of one-story height at the dockside, rising to five stories in the rear. It will contain ample space for fish, egg and produce storage, fish and egg pre-cooling in a compact and well-insulated building of reinforced concrete and steel construction.

To make way for the erection of the structure on a site leased from the Federal Government a new road has been built at Ogden Point, and the original inter-dock connecting road will be removed, as it passes through the site of the leased land. The lease is for twenty-one years at a nominal rental, with the choice of renewal for two further periods of twenty-one years each.

MODERN EQUIPMENT
The most modern equipment will be installed, says Mr. Brown, who is working in association with the Municipal Debenture Corporation of Quebec, in the completion of the final details of the venture. The latest processes in fish and produce storage will be incorporated in the plans, which have been prepared with the expert guidance of a well-known New York firm of refrigerating engineers, Ophuls and Hills.

The cold storage plant is the second of three city-aided undertakings, the city's guarantee in this case being in the form of an assurance of seven per cent profits on $500,000 of the investment for a period of ten years. The maximum city contribution could be $35,000 a year, but from this sum will be deducted any profits made by the undertaking while the guarantee applies.

Federal Minister, in Vancouver To-day, to Meet Tolmie Here To-morrow

Co-operation of Ottawa and Provincial Governments in Settlement Urged

Vancouver, Oct. 19.—"People of British origin who come to Canada really habituate themselves to conditions, and I think, make the finest type of settler this country can encourage to go upon its soil," said Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, who is in Vancouver to-day in the course of his tour of the western provinces.

Mr. Forke will leave for Victoria to-night to confer on immigration with Premier Tolmie Saturday.

Mr. Forke is accompanied by Mrs. Forke, M. J. Cullen, his secretary, and W. R. Little, commissioner of immigration.

CO-OPERATION PLANNED
"The purpose of this visit to the west is to discover the sentiment of the provinces regarding possibilities of co-operative efforts between them and the Federal Government and the establishment of a common policy for encouraging immigration," said Mr. Forke.

Liberals of Victoria probably will meet in convention on October 30 to select a candidate for the House of Commons by-election to be held here December 6. This convention date, it is expected, will be finally ratified at the annual meeting of the Liberal Association, called to-day for Tuesday, October 23, in the Sons of Canada Hall, corner of Blanshard and View Streets.

The programme of the annual meeting was announced by heads of the association this morning. It will be featured by an address by Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Health and Pensions, and British Columbia's representative in the Federal Cabinet.

Following the business meeting, there will be an informal dance from 10 to 11 o'clock. O'Leary's orchestra supplying the music. Refreshments will be served by the Women's Forum.

Victoria Conservatives also are preparing for the forthcoming poll. While no convention date has been fixed yet, ward Conservative associations of the city are already electing delegates who will nominate the Conservative candidate later.

PLANNING SECOND ATTEMPT TO FLY ACROSS ATLANTIC

Foiled in their first attempt to fly Charles A. Levine's veteran transatlantic monoplane Columbia from Curtiss Field, New York, to Rome, Roger Q. Williams (top) pilot, and Pietro Bonelli, his navigator, are having the machine repaired for a second hop.

The plane fell after it had been only a minute in the air the first time.

Mr. Forke will leave for Victoria to-night to confer on immigration with Premier Tolmie Saturday.

PRESTON APPEAL IS TO BE HEARD
Ontario Court Restores Currie Suit to List of Cases

Toronto, Oct. 19.—The Second Ontario Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall here to-day decided to restore to the list of appeals the appeal of W. T. R. Preston and W. F. Wilson of Port Hope, Ont., from the judgment of Mr. Justice Rose and a jury at Cobourg in the action for libel brought by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, awarding the man commanded the Canadian corps in France $500 and costs.

The appeal will come up for peremptory hearing October 29. Argument this morning was on a motion to set aside notice of the discontinuance of the appeal. T. F. Hall, K.C., counsel for the appellants, read affidavits made by Preston and Wilson to the effect they had not authorized abandonment of the appeal, and that while the notice of abandonment was signed by W. A. Campbell, solicitor for the defendants, Mr. Campbell assured them he had not signed such a notice.

Mr. Hall explained that apparently there had been some misunderstanding.

GARBAGE MEN URGE INQUIRY
Two Workers in Seattle Say They Had to Pay to Hold Jobs

Seattle, Oct. 19.—Possibility of a great jury investigation of Seattle's reported garbage graft was seen to-day as the result of an offer by two garbage truck drivers to tell "all they knew" about the city's garbage collection system.

That they had paid $2 a month, and possibly more, in order to hold their jobs, was the charge Deputy Prosecutor Ralph Hammer and Councilman Otto Case, chairman of the council efficiency committee, said they had heard yesterday from a private attorney, who asked that his own and his clients' names be withheld. Hammer and Case accepted the attorney's invitation to interview the two truck drivers, probably to-day.

Technical School Vote Before City At December Poll

City School Board Finds Way to Submit Referendum at Annual Elections; Provincial Government Assistance Promised In Aid of Project.

Ratepayers of Victoria will be given a second opportunity at the December civic election of securing a district technical school, fully equipped, at a cost of approximately $150 for every $2.50 expended in the completion of the institution.

Two obstacles in the path of submitting the plan to the electorate fell before the efforts of the City School Board yesterday. One was the removal of all doubt as to the stand to be taken by the new Provincial Government on the question of direct financial aid to the erection and equipping of the school. Assurance of this assistance was given by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education to a delegation from the board yesterday afternoon.

NO OBJECTION NOW
The second obstacle in the way of submitting the referendum again this year, after its defeat in the Spring, was brushed aside automatically when it became known that Section 175 of the Municipal Act, which had prohibited the resubmission of a defeated money-by-law in the same year, had been repealed in 1925, and that nothing now remained to bar the referendum from going before the electorate at the same time as the poll for civic offices, December 13.

Submission of the by-law in December will mean a saving in the cost of the referendum. A two-thirds vote of those entitled to poll on money by-laws will be necessary to pass the measure.

GOVERNMENT BACKING
If Victoria should decide in favor of a technical school, the Provincial Government will render the same financial assistance towards its erection and equipment as was promised by the last Government, a delegation which awaited upon Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, was assured.

This will mean Government assistance to the extent of forty per cent of the cost of the building and fifty per cent on the cost of equipment, the Federal Government sharing half the cost with the Provincial Government on the Provincial Government agreeing to help.

Mr. Hinchliffe emphasized that in order to secure a grant from the generous appropriation made by the Canadian Parliament to assist technical education throughout Canada it would be necessary to have the school approved by the Provincial Government.

Aintee McPherson At Glasgow Given Rowdy Reception
Glasgow, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Aintee McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, got a rowdy reception when she addressed a meeting at the Glasgow Students' Union to-day.

A noisy crowd of students thronged the hall an hour before her appearance and when the evangelist arrived they had decorated the platform with empty bottles and glasses of beer and had adorned the walls with posters proclaiming the merits of "good old whisky."

One group played cards on the floor and then decorated the table with Kings and Queens. When the California woman began to speak, girls students in the front row lighted cigarettes.

At one point Mrs. McPherson coughed slightly and the students offered her a glass of beer.

Order was at length obtained on the appeal of a student on the platform.

WOMAN CLIMBS THROUGH PORT HOLE INTO SEA

Mrs. E. E. Petrie, on Way Here, Missing When Ruth Alexander Docks

Officers Suspect Suicide as They Find Door Locked From Inside

Mrs. E. E. Petrie of San Francisco, and formerly of Victoria, a passenger on the Pacific Steamship Company's liner "Aurora," was missing when the ship reached port here this morning, apparently having climbed through the porthole of her cabin last night and buried herself into the sea in a fit of despondency.

Suicide was the only explanation which officers of the vessel could offer for the disappearance of Mrs. Petrie, who was on her way to Victoria to visit a relative, Mrs. L. E. Aldridge of May Street. The door of the missing woman's cabin was locked from the inside, her clothes and effects were strewn about the room and the porthole was wide open, indicating clearly how she left the liner, some time between 7 o'clock last night and 3 o'clock this morning.

NOT WELL
Passengers on the Ruth reported that Mrs. Petrie had not been at all well during the voyage and had kept in her room a good deal. She had appeared for dinner last evening, however, and was last seen in the social lounge of the liner about 7:30 o'clock. She then retired to her room, saying that she was tired and would go to bed early this morning.

The Ruth berthed at the Rithet piers here at 3 o'clock this morning and at 5:30 o'clock, as is the usual custom, all passengers who were to leave the liner were to be up early in the morning.

Real Estate Deal In Vancouver $500,000
Vancouver, Oct. 19.—Half a million dollars cash has been paid by William Dick for seventy-five feet on Granville Street here, adjoining the northwest corner at the intersection of Georgia, according to an announcement to-day.

Mr. Dick plans to construct a store on the premises when the present leases expire in 1930.

The site is occupied by Purdy's Limited and retail stores. It has a depth of 120 feet. H. Bell-Irving was the vendor.

CITY CALLS UNITED CONFERENCE ON PORT DEVELOPMENT
The port development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, leading local transportation and pilotage officials, representatives of the intelligence staffs of the military and naval garrisons, and others interested in facilities for ocean-going boats at this port are invited to attend a meeting called by the committee of the City Council for Tuesday next at 3 p.m. at the City Hall.

The object of the meeting is to give further consideration to the preparation of a uniform plan which will be put forward for the attention of Federal authorities, following up recent submissions made to Hon. J. H. King, British Columbia's Minister at Ottawa.

By throwing the meeting open to all interested in the subject the city hopes to secure the advice of those who have a practical knowledge of many of the factors entering into the question, it was explained at the City Hall to-day.

NEW TEST FOR MARKET ACT

Legal Steps Expected to Follow Setting of Price For B.C. Potatoes

New Westminster, Oct. 19.—Lieut. Colonel A. W. McLean, who was nominated at the recent potato growers' meeting at Cloverdale, received a telegram this morning from F. M. Black of the Interior Fruit and Vegetable Committee under the British Columbia Marketing Act, Kelowna, appointing him potato commissioner for the lower mainland.

A telegram also reached here this morning cancelling the appointment of George Challenger as commissioner and all other appointments.

W. Montgomery, who was nominated at the first Cloverdale meeting to be a member of the new advisory board, has declined to accept office following the new developments.

This apparently leaves Col. McLean a free hand, and it is expected he will immediately set a price of $20 a ton for whites and $25 for netted gems to wholesalers, which would be $25 and $27 a ton retail.

Legal developments are anticipated following these changes.

EFFORT TO FREE CAPT. PAMPHLET
B.C. Mariners Ask Canadian in Jail in Washington State Be Released

Vancouver, Oct. 19.—An attempt was launched here to-day to obtain a new trial for Capt. Robert Pamphlet on the basis of the recent ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals that "a liquor laden ship, even within the three-mile limit, can not be seized unless there is evidence that an attempt is being made at the time to land the contraband cargo."

Capt. Pamphlet, who commanded the schooner Pescawia, is serving a two-year sentence at the McNeil Island Penitentiary, Washington, for violating the liquor laws of the United States. The new move was started here by the Canadian Merchant Service Guild Inc., a body having 800 masters and deck officers trading out of British Columbia as its members. They have mailed a 500-word letter to Premier King calling attention to the recent United States court ruling and asking him to act through the proper channels in order to gain a new trial for Capt. Pamphlet.

Tests of Australian Totalizator at Colwood and Willows Tracks Prove It Not Suited for Use Under Conditions Obtaining in Canada, Says Federal Department of Agriculture In Barring It From Use In Canada.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The Australian automatic totalizator, after trials at race meetings at Colwood Park and Willows Park, Victoria, British Columbia, has not proved satisfactory in Canada, the Department of Agriculture announced to-day. Officials of the department kept a close track over the operations of the machine at those tracks and have come to the conclusion it was not sufficiently accurate to permit its further use in this country "under present conditions, if the interests of the racing public are to be reasonably safeguarded."

"The machine," the statement says, properly and permanently installed in a proper building, properly protected and operated under Australian racing conditions, no doubt is quite accurate, reliable and satisfactory, but unless and until similar or approximately similar installation and considerations can be applied on Canadian tracks, it is felt the use of this machine cannot be allowed in future in this country."

UP TO $100
During its operation on the Pacific Coast there were found to be discrepancies between the amounts totalized by the machine as compared with the actual totals from the selling machines in 48 races out of the 147 in which it operated. The actual discrepancies were small, ranging often less than $5 and never more than $100, but there did not in most cases seem to be any correctable feature of the machine or its operation which would account for the error. It was pointed out that the pools involved were small, but such errors might cause a very appreciable difference in stakes on some races, particularly in the case of a non-favorite or long shot winning.

The automatic "tote" was first tried out here during the racing season of 1926 when directors of the newly-formed Colwood track, seeing the possibilities of the device arranged to have it installed there for a trial.

After some difficulty, the machine was installed, and was operated under the supervision of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Slight trouble was experienced in some cases but, on the whole, directors of the track were stated to be satisfied with its operation.

POPULAR ELSEWHERE
In Australia and India, where the totalizer has been used for some time, it is reported to have functioned with little trouble, and bettors were thoroughly satisfied. Recently it has found favor on French tracks, and a company capitalized at half a million pounds has been formed to introduce it on English tracks. The Jockey Club there now has the machine under consideration.

On local tracks the same machine was moved from the Colwood track to the Willows and back again to accommodate the racing season, they switched between the two tracks.

It is understood they discussed the composition of the committee of experts that will review the question of German reparations early in December.

EDMONTON GETS PICTURES DISPUTED ON COAST OF B.C.
Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The pictures of the Canadian National Gallery which were exhibited in Vancouver during September will be shown in the Museum of Fine Arts in Edmonton for a period, opening October 24. At the same time the Edmonton authorities have arranged for exhibition of a collection of the "Group of Seven" pictures, which caused such a furore at the Vancouver showing. It has been made clear to the officials of the Museum of Fine Arts that "The Group of Seven" collection is in no way identified with that of the National Gallery, which accepts responsibility for its own pictures only.

Some considerable controversy was aroused in Vancouver some weeks ago by the appearance of a collection of pictures by the "Group of Seven," a school of Toronto artists, side by side with a collection loaned to the Vancouver Exhibition by the trustees of the Canadian National Gallery. The group paintings were vigorously denounced by the press and the opinion was expressed that the National Gallery was not fulfilling its national function by identifying itself with this external organization. The trustees replied that they had not in any way associated themselves with the "Group of Seven" pictures and shouldered no responsibility for them.

NO NEWS FROM ATLANTIC OF SMALL PLANE

Any Lingering Hopes For H. C. MacDonald Have Very Slim Basis

London, Oct. 19.—With every hour that passed to-day without news of Lieut.-Commander H. C. MacDonald, hope for the British airmen's safety grew fainter, until by mid-afternoon it had almost reached the vanishing point.

The chief ground for what hope remained was that he might have conquered the Atlantic with his De Havilland Gypsy Moth plane and landed at some isolated spot on the Irish coast.

Apparently the only other chance was that he might have been picked up by a small ocean vessel unable to report the fact by wireless. In this connection the case of Harry Hawker was cited, it being recalled that it was seven days after the beginning of his flight before it was learned he had been rescued by a Danish ship which carried no wireless.

HICKMAN PAYS LAST PENALTY

Young Man Who Murdered Los Angeles Girl Hanged at San Quentin, Cal.

San Quentin, Cal., Oct. 19.—William Edward Hickman was hanged here shortly after 10 a.m. to-day for the murder of a twelve-year-old Marian Parker, Los Angeles schoolgirl, whom he kidnapped December 15 last.

The youth, who had boastfully called himself "The Fox," walked to the trap white, but gave little other outward appearance of emotion, consistent to the last breath with the attitude displayed since he was arrested in Oregon. Some 200 persons saw the execution.

JOINED IN LITANY
Rev. Father William Fleming, under whose spiritual guidance Hickman had turned from fatalism to Christianity, chanted the Litany of the Dead from the Roman Catholic ritual during the march, and Hickman made the responses. The young man's lips scarcely moved, but he followed without a noticeable break. Hickman walked steadily and straight as a ramrod.

CHEMISTS GET EXTRA CROP BY GASSING PLANTS

New Wonders of Science Revealed at Chemical Industry Convention

Lilacs Sprout at Christmas; Rest Periods Are Overcome

New York, Oct. 19.—Dr. F. E. Denny, research director of the Boyce Thompson Institute at Yonkers, told members of the Society of Chemical Industry that chemical treatment of certain plants during their annual dormancy or "rest period" had almost the effect of an alarm clock upon a sleeping person, awakening them almost immediately to vigorous growth during the several months nature had set aside as their time of complete relaxation.

Dr. Denny declared that he had thus caused lilacs to bloom before Christmas, something they had never done before in this part of the country, and that he expected this season to produce a second crop of Irish potatoes from the seed of potatoes of the season's first crop. He said that should these methods of forced growth prove worthy of general adoption, it would mean material financial gain to the farmer, through two crops in a season, would enable the horticulturist to meet the Christmas demand for certain flowers not now obtainable at that season, and provide more liberal supplies of flowers and food for the public.

PLANTS SHOWN TO CHEMISTS

Dr. Denny's address, illustrated by lantern slides and made even more impressive by the presence of large pots containing growing potato plants, caused more discussion than any other paper read to the society during its annual meeting.

Tearing the leaves from a lilac twig, Dr. Denny said the tiny buds would not grow under normal conditions for several months. With a small potato in his other hand, he declared, its "eyes" also were dormant. He explained, however, that the twig and the potato would respond to the chemical treatments with which he has been experimenting for four years.

"I now have potatoes in my garden," Dr. Denny continued, "from which I hope to get a second crop this year. It looks very hopeful, and I have every reason to believe I will get the second crop unless we have an early frost."

"The rest periods of certain plants are a source of annoyance, or even of great financial loss, to horticulturists, since the growth of the plants cannot be controlled in such manner as to induce the maximum germination percentage, or to bring the crops to harvest at seasons of the year when market conditions are most favorable. It can readily be seen that methods of treating these dormant plants to induce development at any season of the year are desirable. In the experiments on which this paper is based, tests were made with about 250 different chemicals, using a range of concentrations and periods of treatment for each chemical.

DEMAND FOR CHRISTMAS BLOOMS

"One of the factors of success in admitted he did not know what penalty, if any, nature might demand for cutting short the "rest period" she had provided for her plants. The pictures showed potatoes growing several sprouts where normally but one sprout would grow, to be succeeded by a second sprout only if the first were broken.

DORMANCY NOT IN STEM

The treatment of individual buds, he said, showed that the dormancy was not in the stem and indicated that the vapors probably released certain other chemicals already in the bud but temporarily "tied up" during the rest period.

TELLS HOW SCIENCE TESTS OLD MASTERS

Scientific tests which have been successfully conducted in the art galleries of Paris to prove the authenticity of masterpieces were described by M. Cellerier, a French authority, attending the World Congress on Illumination.

M. Cellerier, who has been conducting a study of old masters in the Louvre, recently carried out tests on "Mona Lisa." Leonardo da Vinci's masterpiece was subjected to ultra-violet rays, luminous films, spectroscopy, X-rays and phosphorescence. Under rigid tests, M. Cellerier said, spurious copies of other famous pieces have been detected in the special laboratory at the Louvre.

The first step in the process, M. Cellerier explained, is to analyze the pigments which it is known the master used. The complete identification of the painting is further determined by X-rays and ultraviolet radiation.

The study now in progress at the Louvre has for its object the establishment of reliable data concerning the peculiar characteristics of each of the masters represented so that full information may be available when the authenticity of a work attributed to any particular master has to be investigated. A study is also being made of the pigments used at various periods and as far as possible by the various artists.

M. Cellerier said he would examine some of the museum paintings in this country in order to carry out certain remaining details of his Paris tests.

Dr. Charles Hamilton Foot, in a paper on "Pre-oxidation as a Preliminary Treatment to the Low Temperature Distillation of Coal," said that coal burns slowly all the time, even when in the coal bin. He declared the air slowly combined with the coal and produced small amounts of the same gases which arise from a burning coal fire.

BRITONS ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

The annual dinner of the society was held at the Commodore Hotel. Colonel Marston T. Bogart, professor of Organic Chemistry at Columbia University, was a former president of the Society of Chemical Industry, was toastmaster. The speakers included Mass, newly elected president of the society; Francis H. Carr, its retiring president; Sir Alexander Gibb, and Montrose Strassburger of the Corporation Counsel's office, who represented Mayor Walker.

The thing that impressed me most in this country," Sir Alexander Gibb said, "was the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, because that shows that the wealthy industrialists here are establishing technical and industrial or Dr. Arthur D. Little of Cambridge. In this lies the happiest augury for the future of American science."

The dinner speeches were, in effect, a sort of exchange of compliments, the where fifteen died in Ohio prison fire—Here are the smoldering ruins of the Ohio penitentiary brick plant at Junction City, O., where seventeen convicts are believed to have lost their lives when fire swept through the dormitory section at night. Trapped behind barred windows, the prisoners died before guards could release them. When this picture was taken, a number of bodies were believed still hidden in the ruins. Fifteen bodies were recovered and investigation of charges that these men had been trapped, without a chance to escape, was started by the state.

Mr. Daniels is opposed to Governor Smith's proposal to amend the prohibition law. "But the prohibition law is safe anyway," Mr. Daniels generally added, and he described Mr. Hoover's advocates as being wet as the Atlantic.

PORT STRIKE IN AUSTRALIA ENDS

Wharf Men Resume Work After Idle Period of One Month

Melbourne, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—Foreshadowed for several days, the end of the strike of waterside workers throughout Australia came to-day. It had lasted a little more than a month.

A similar strike last December tied up shipping for three weeks.

The strike resulted from rejection by the workers of a decision by the arbitration court that employers should hire dock workers twice a day, the men holding out for a once-a-day system under which they claimed they got a full day's employment.

ACTS OF VIOLENCE

Sporadic outbreaks of violence marked the present strike, which was bitterly fought. A severe blow to the strikers was the refusal of the union of carters and drivers to strike in sympathy. The Federal Parliament also passed an act requiring all dock workers to take out federal licenses before they could obtain employment.

The strikers have been taking out these licenses in increasing numbers during the last few days.

The justices had retired to consider their verdict. When they re-entered the court the judge asked the foreman if they had arrived at a unanimous decision.

"No, my lord," he replied. "We have not. I never met eleven such obstinate men in my life."

U.S. FINANCES SMITH'S TOPIC

Democratic Candidate Says Republicans Dodge Economy Issue

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Secretary Mellon was a target yesterday for the verbal fire of Governor Smith, who accused the Treasury Department head with ducking the issue on the question of a reduction in the operating costs of the Government of the United States.

The Democratic nominee for the Presidency of the United States said that Mr. Mellon, in replying to his challenge of Republican claims of economy in government, had talked about the reduction and remained silent on the question of a paring down of federal expenditures.

"Mr. Mellon entirely ducks the issue," he declared. "He leaves that important word out of his statement that he put out over the radio and that was 'reduction' in the cost of government. That was not brought about."

Mr. Smith also said that before his radio speech he said the Democrats would not give the Republicans credit for reducing the expenditures of the Government. I said: "No, because they were not reduced." But in this (Mr. Mellon's statement in reply) he just talks about tax reduction."

RESTS IN CHICAGO

The nominee's attack on the Secretary was made at a press conference in his suite at the Congress Hotel, where he is staying during his two and half-day stopover in Chicago.

The Democratic candidate was asked if he would leave the United States tomorrow in Nicaragua, if he became President and the reply was:

"I do not know. That depends on how far the Government is committed."

Mr. Smith also said that before the campaign was over he proposed to discuss foreign relations, labor and reorganization of the vast machinery of the Federal Government.

ROBINSON SPEAKS

Washington, Oct. 19 (By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency of the United States, last night went farther into Democratic ideas on the tariff. When he spoke in Louisville, Ky., a week ago, Governor At Smith, Democratic candidate for the Presidency, dropped overboard the old Democratic plank of tariff for revenue and strongly declared himself against a general downward revision to the lower rates of the Underwood-Simmons tariff, passed in the Wilson regime.

At Cheyenne, Wyo., last night, Senator Robinson stood for a tariff that would:

1. Maintain legitimate business.
2. Maintain high wages for labor.
3. Increase the purchasing power of wages by reducing monopolistic and extortionate tariff rates such as protected for instance the aluminum trust.

FARM RELIEF

Senator Robinson would further restore the Tariff Commission as an impartial fact-finding commission. And the Democratic proposal for farm relief was "to establish government agencies through which the surplus crops would be marketed to advantage, imposing the costs upon the units marketed and benefited."

Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for the Presidency, addressed a delegation of exporters in Washington yesterday. But his only reference to the strike was one of regret that "the campaign still is filled with many issues and movements that have nothing to do fundamentally with the prosperity and progress of the country."

Now the World's Largest Selling Laxative

The astounding success of "Feen-a-mint" is due to two things:

1. Because it is the easiest-to-take laxative, "Feen-a-mint" is in the form of chewing gum, delightfully mint-flavored.
2. Because "Feen-a-mint" contains the most harmless yet thoroughly effective laxative known to medical science—phenolphthalein (yellow), which is mixed with the saliva in the chewing process, as it should be to attain best results.

"Feen-a-mint" is fast supplanting disagreeable, harsh, habit-forming and often injurious laxatives and purgatives. The next time you need an internal cleansing, try this new modern chewing gum laxative—"Feen-a-mint."

Duncan

The annual harvest supper given by members of St. John's Church was held on Tuesday evening in the K. of P. Hall, Duncan, and was in every way a complete success. Two hundred and twenty-five people attended and three sittings were necessary before all could be supplied with the delicious fare provided.

By courtesy of E. L. Plakett a radio demonstration was given during supper, and afterwards dancing rounded out the evening to music supplied by the Kinsmen's band. Cards were provided for those who preferred them.

Mrs. J. Warwick was general convener, ably assisted by Mrs. J. Fletcher, Mrs. A. Bieschlager, Mrs. W. Frost, Mrs. W. H. Purver, Mrs. J. S. Robinson, Mrs. E. G. Sanford, Mrs. J. Saunders, Mrs. Thorpe, Mrs. Cummins, Mrs. Potts, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. L. C. Brockway, Mrs. E. W. Neel, Mrs. F. H. Frost and Mrs. T. Pitt.

The men of the church committee made excellent waiters, assisted by two of the senior boys from the Bible class.

Duncan footballers were successful in their first game of the season, defeating the Nanaimo Eagles by a score of 1-0. The goalkeeping of Art Peel was especially good and kept the visitors from scoring. Duncan did not make its goal until near the end of the first half, when a good shot from Thorne got past the Nanaimo goalkeeper.

A very delightful wedding anniversary party was given in Vimy Hall, Gibbins Road, last Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson, who were married on October 12, 1909, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, who were married on October 12, 1910. We covet nothing of our neighbors. China was always known as a peaceable and peace-loving nation. THE TECHNICAL SCHOOL

HON. JOSHUA HINCHLIFFE, MINISTER of Education in the Talmie Government, has assured the Victoria School Trustees that the offer of a grant towards a Technical School which the MacLean Government made early this year will be renewed.

This is a very satisfactory assurance and the Minister is to be commended for his decision. It means that the taxpayers of this city will have another opportunity of passing judgment on an important matter of educational policy. It is true that when the by-law was submitted to them last April they did not approve the proposal by a sufficient majority. But we venture to suggest the congested condition of the High School was not as thoroughly understood by the majority of the voters at that time as it is at this stage. We may assume that when the by-law is submitted at the municipal elections in December it will pass with the requisite majority.

Most of our taxpayers no doubt are fully conversant with the details of the proposal. The estimated cost of a building necessary to meet the technical instruction needs of this community would be $200,000, while an additional $50,000 would be required to furnish the equipment. Towards the cost of the building the province, on a fifty-fifty basis with the Dominion, would contribute forty per cent, and to the cost of the equipment it would contribute fifty per cent. In other words, the total net cost to the taxpayers of Victoria would be $145,000. These are the financial details of the proposal.

The other phase is one of accommodation. The present High School was built to accommodate one thousand pupils. The enrolment last year was over twelve hundred and basement rooms had to be converted into something like classrooms in order that the overflow of students might have room. This year, however, the enrolment is 1,339, and it has been necessary to transfer two classes of mathematics and all the boys doing technical shop work to the Boys' Central School—an arrangement obviously undesirable.

There are two aspects of this question which demand early consideration by the taxpayers. They will have to decide whether they will agree to find $145,000 as their share towards the establishment of a Technical School, or find something like $300,000 for new High School accommodation, towards which, of course, there would be no government contribution. In the case of a Technical School a decision must be given as quickly as possible, because work on the building must be commenced before next March if advantage is to be taken of the grant which the Minister of Education has promised. On March 31 the arrangement between the Dominion and the provinces to aid technical education will come to an end.

Apart from the purely financial aspect of the subject, and the pressing need for more High School accommodation, Victoria's attitude towards technical education in general should be taken into consideration. Vancouver recently opened a new Technical School which cost more than half a million dollars. Other cities are operating similar institutions and highly beneficial results are being recorded. We should demonstrate that Victoria is as progressive as the rest.

SIR RENNELL RODD

THE FACT THAT SIR RENNELL RODD, who will speak in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium under the auspices of the National Council of Education to-morrow night, has served more than fifty years in the British diplomatic service should be sufficient inducement to the people of Victoria to make a point of hearing him discuss "The Old and the New Diplomacy."

In the days of the old diplomacy Sir Rennell held ambassadorial and ministerial positions in many countries, while since the advent of the new he has twice been a delegate from Britain to the Assembly of the League of Nations. We do not know whether such a long period of service in the old atmosphere, when the representatives of nations—often few in number—met behind doors that were proof against all eavesdroppers, has left him firm in the belief that the best interests of the world were served by secret bargaining, or whether he has become a convert to the system which permits the peoples of all nations—the people who pay the bills when their representatives make "mistakes"—to see what is going on when it is going on.

We may be sure, however, no matter what his personal views may be, that out of the wealth of a ripe experience Sir Rennell Rodd will draw a verbal picture of the old and new diplomacy in a way that will not fail to interest all. We bespeak for him a large audience to-morrow night, not only in tribute to him, but as a mark of encouragement to the local committee of the National Council which has been responsible for introducing to Victoria audiences many men and women of international eminence.

RURAL AND URBAN SAANICH

WHATEVER DECISION MAY BE reached in respect of taxation difficulties in urban and rural Saanich it must be clear to most people that the problem has arisen because there is a distinct conflict of fundamentals between the two settlements.

Rural Saanich is trying to develop its potential agricultural resources under an urban system of taxation. It might just as well try to make water flow up hill. If it is compelled to remain under this handicap much longer, moreover, the death knell of its agricultural industry soon will be sounded.

There obviously should be a division. Rural Saanich should become a rural municipality and its land taxed wholly on that basis. Urban Saanich ought to be part of Victoria, since it never can be agricultural.

This is a Saanich problem; but it is a problem in which Victoria is intimately concerned. The development of all the agricultural areas adjacent to this city is an important factor in this city's expansion. For many years we have looked forward to the conversion of the Saanich Peninsula into a prosperous agrarian area. Saanich never will be able to realize this as long as it is part agricultural and part urban.

WHAT DOES IT WANT?

IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO DISCOVER just what Premier King or any of his colleagues could say which would convince the morning paper that the present Government at Ottawa prefers British migrants to migrants from other countries. The Prime Minister on several occasions has used the plainest of language to say so. The Minister of Immigration has been equally emphatic. The special committee of the House of Commons, composed of Liberals and Conservatives, which investigated the whole immigration business of the Dominion found that the Department over which Mr. Forke presides had adopted every possible means to attract more British stock. Mr. Forke said in Vancouver this morning "we are all agreed, of course, that it is British settlers which Canada wants more than any other." On top of all this there is a busy and costly organization in Great Britain, paid for by Canada, devoting all its energies to getting settlers and training them for Canadian life. What does The Colonist really want? Would it really like to see several thousand unemployed from Great Britain brought to Victoria by force for the coming winter? Attempts to manufacture political capital out of material that does not exist must be a difficult job.

GET OUT THE FACTS

IT IS ANNOUNCED FROM OTTAWA that the whole business of trading in fruit as it applies to imports and exports, particularly between this country and the United States, will be made the subject of inquiry by the Dominion Government.

The dispatch says that a check up is being made to ascertain the exact amount of Canadian exports across the line and of the importations from the United States into Canada. Those who are doing the importing also will be subject to inquiry, since it is reported some "singular allegations have been made, particularly as affecting the imports into British Columbia."

The Government is following the right course in getting to the bottom of this matter. The country has heard a good deal about the dumping of fruit from the United States into Canada at the expense of our own producers. If there is something which the public does not know, it should be uncovered.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAYS

The Maritime Free Press

These waterways project must make its way, if at all, on its business merits, as they show themselves upon investigation. The waterways will not be built, with Canadian co-operation, unless it can be shown that the rewards of the enterprise will justify the outlay.

THE PENNIES AND THE POUNDS

The Washington Post

(In order of wealth per capita, New Zealand heads the list, other countries, coming in the following order—Switzerland, United States, Roumania, Great Britain, Canada and Australia. Russia is at the bottom of the scale.) This apparently incongruous grouping may be explained in part by the occupations and habits of the majority of the citizens of the countries mentioned above. Apparently individual thrift, has much to do with the case. It seems strange that the United States, with its unparalleled resources and its great prosperity, taken as a whole, should not make a better showing than the above figures indicate. Is it possible that extravagance is the reason?

MR. HOOVER AND MR. BENNETT

The Toronto Star

Mr. Hoover's statement that "the Government should not engage in business in competition with its citizens" is quoted with approval by The Mail and Empire and it goes on to say: "With the resources at its disposal a government can be more than a match for the most powerful corporation aided by the keenest brains it can employ." Therefore, it believes that national control of policy and regulation of rates is all that is needed, without public ownership.

On the front page of the same issue, The Mail and Empire publishes a dispatch from Moncton, reporting the speech of its leader, Hon. R. B. Bennett, declaring that "the Canadian National Railways must carry on as a national institution in competition to privately-owned enterprises."

As we understand it, our contemporary approves the views of Mr. Hoover, but does not express disapproval of those of Mr. Bennett.

DRIVER FINED AFTER CRASH

Magistrate George Jay Decides Against C. J. Graves in Common Danger Case

As an outcome of an automobile collision at the corner of Douglas Street and Talmie Avenue, C. J. Graves was fined $15 in City Police Court this morning. A counter-charge against John Ewing was dismissed. Delivering judgment on the case, Magistrate George Jay outlined the facts, pointing out that Graves had crossed the car tracks to the left hand side of Douglas Street just previous to the crash, this being necessary owing to the condition of the street. He had swung over too far, however, and his car had come in contact with that of Ewing on the west side of the street. Graves had not been driving with the care and caution necessary under the Act, and the magistrate, although there was no evidence to show he had been traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

Magistrate Jay was not very much impressed by the counter charge against Ewing, he said, this charge having been laid after the first summons had been issued. It was unlikely that the second charge would have been laid at all if Graves had not been brought into court, he added.

NEW ELEVATOR IS DESCRIBED

Construction and Operation of Terminal Reviewed By A. H. L. Somerville

The Panama-Pacific grain elevator at Ogden Point docks was last night described to the Sons of Canada by A. H. L. Somerville, who supervised the erection of the plant on behalf of the city, as the representative of C. D. Howe and Company, consulting engineers.

The elevator had been well designed and is a fine plant in every particular. Mr. Somerville stated, after reviewing construction methods employed and the process of handling grain. The elevator will hold about 1,000,000 bushels.

A. Monteith, vice-president and chairman, complimented Mr. Somerville upon his keen supervision of the work, and told of points noted during employment in erection of the elevator.

Mr. Somerville moved the vote of thanks, stating that the elevator was only one of many industries and waterfront activities which might be expected.

W. M. Ivel referred to the value of the elevator in attracting shipping to Victoria. He had long considered the port of Victoria had been neglected.

Prince Rupert, Oct. 19.—Fritz Turner, a native of Finland, charged with murder in connection with the death by shooting of Thomas Christiansen while both men were fishing in Dean Channel last July, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the Assize Court here last night. He was sentenced to life imprisonment by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald.

Turner's plea was that he was ill and unstrung and annoyed to the last pitch of endurance by interference with his fishing net, as well as by the theft of salmon from his boat. He admitted having shot after having repeatedly told Christiansen to leave him alone.

Thomas Hanson of Bella Coola, fisherman, testified he was present when the shooting was done. He said he was rowing with two other men. He heard Christiansen, who was alone in his boat, scream, put his hands over his chest and roll over on a pile of netting. When the witness shouted Turner to come over and help, because a man had been wounded, Turner, the witness said, cursed and pointed a gun

FREE SPEECH IS DALLAS ISSUE

Royalist-Communist Election Sparring Stirrs City of Texas

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 19.—City fathers of Dallas almost were inclined to believe they were being "spoofed" last night as the American Civil Liberties Union offered to help Royalists and Communists obtain "rights of free speech" in Dallas.

The Royalists who, like the communists, failed to obtain use of the City Hall auditorium for meetings, accepted an alleged offer of help from the American Civil Liberties Union and in turn offered to help the union obtain rights of assembly for the communists.

REQUESTS REFUSED

Tuesday Benjamin Gitlow, candidate for the Workers (Communist) Party of America for the Vice-Presidency of the United States, was refused use of the City Hall auditorium for a meeting. Gitlow, who styles himself secretary-general of the Royalist League of America, announced he had obtained a permit to use the hall for a Sunday meeting. Yesterday the permit was cancelled until the city commission could consider it and Street Commissioner Arthur Reinhart announced the hall was not available for anyone who wished to change the existing form of government.

Pots was indignant at the city's action and announced he was accepting the aid of the Civil Liberties Union. He exhibited a telegram bearing the name Forrest Bailey, who he said was secretary of the union.

"Will gladly help you if denied rights of free speech and assembly," the telegram read. "Will you join us in effort to extend same rights for communists, whose Vice-Presidential candidate was denied use of City Hall auditorium? Who is your candidate for King?"

SHAW AND ROGERS

Pots's answer, telegraphed last night, read: "Will co-operate with you in securing hearing for Gitlow and communists, or even for Straton and Fundamentalists, provided I do not have to hear the latter. American Legion wants Mussolini, but my personal candidate is George Bernard Shaw, with Will Rogers as Vice-King."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, October 19, 1903.

Fifteen out of the seventeen Liberal members elected to the Legislature on October 3, are in the Capital to-day for the purpose of selecting the man who will henceforth occupy the post of leader of the party. The two absent ones are Messrs. Murphy and Jones, of the Cariboo, who found it impossible to get here in time for the meeting.

Coolwood race course was crowded on Saturday, the occasion being the annual gymkhana race meeting of the Victoria Hunt Club. Although the special train which left the E. & N. station at 2 o'clock was not carrying the number anticipated, more came from the city on bicycles or carriages, huggies and other vehicles than on previous occasions. In this way they were able to enjoy the beautiful weather.

At a meeting of the British Columbia Football Association, held at Nanaimo the other day, officers were elected as follows: President, James Crossan (Nanaimo), re-elected; vice-president, Rev. W. W. Bolton (Victoria); secretary-treasurer, J. W. Freeman, Nanaimo.

John Oliver and Chas. W. Munro, members-elect for Delta and Chilliwack, respectively, down for the meeting of Liberals, are at the Dominion Hotel.

NEW ARTERIALS ARE SUGGESTED

Lillian Road and Johnson St.
Recommended By Police
Commission

Creation of Lillian Road in Poul Bay, from Irving Road to Fairfield Road and Johnson Street and Esquimalt Road from Government to the city limits, as arterial highways was recommended by the boards of police commissioners in session yesterday.

After considering a petition from C. A. A. Holden and fourteen others pointing out the danger existing on Lillian Road the board decided to recommend this be made an arterial. Commissioner Stanland made the motion.

Following up a former request for the designation of Johnson Street and its continuation as Esquimalt Road as an arterial, the board specified this should extend from Government Street to city limits.

THIRD-CLASS CONSTABLE
Constable N. G. Griffiths was promoted from probationer to rank of third class constable, following a recommendation by the Chief. Contracts for supplying thirty-four pairs of police pants at $11 a pair, and eight overcoats at $32.70 were awarded to W. A. Sprinkling.

Intersection Last Month

Bicyclists Must Observe
Arterial Highway Rules, Commission Warns

Only one accident occurred at an arterial highway intersection last month, Commissioner W. E. Stanland stated at the City Police Commission meeting yesterday afternoon, commenting upon the traffic report for the month.

"There is a decrease in motor accidents shown," said Commissioner Stanland. "Most of the collisions recorded are of a minor character."

BICYCLES WARNED

In this connection, Commissioner Stanland thought it should be drawn to the attention of bicyclists and drivers of horse-drawn vehicles that they, also, come under the arterial highway rule. Bicycle riders must also stop behind street cars, he declared, remarking that these regulations frequently pass unobserved by the majority of riders in the city.

COURT REPORT

The police court statistics for the month show a total of 300 cases in court, in 280 of which convictions were secured, two sent up for trial, thirteen discharged and others given into safekeeping.

The second annual masquerade ball of the Prince Edward Branch of the Canadian Legion will be held in the Colwood hall about the third week in November.

The first card party of this season under the auspices of the Langford Women's Institute was held at their hall, on Dunfort Road, on Wednesday night, with forty people present. Progressive bridge and 500 were enjoyed. R. W. Watson being the master of ceremonies. Beautiful flowering plants had been given by a member for the highest scores and were won by Miss Winnifred Bown for her 500 score, while Mrs. C. F. Smith obtained the award for bridge. H. Reed and C. F. Smith won the gentlemen's prizes at bridge. Miss V. Barr and H. Simpson won the consolation trophies while Mrs. H. Simpson and A. Cowie carried off these prizes at 500. The novel competition of naming different shrubs planned around the room was won by Mrs. R. W. Watson with Mrs. G. Cooney winning the booby prize. Another guessing competition was won by Miss Ellen Shotbolt. Members of the Royal Oak Women's Institute had been invited to be present, but unfortunately only five persons from that district could avail themselves of the invitation.

A delicious supper was served, the long table being adorned with choice chrysanthemums. A long artistically-laid cake occupied one of the tables with the inscription "Royal Oak W.I." on it. Mrs. James L. Brown, president of the local institute, spoke a few words of welcome to the guests to which Mrs. H. Reed of Royal Oak responded. Dancing was enjoyed, Mrs. and Miss Shotbolt supplying the music.

Before departing hearty cheers were called for the president and directors of the institute and all who helped to make the evening a success.

Visitors from Royal Oak were: Mr. and Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Webster, from Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Shotbolt, Mrs. and Miss Barr, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, Miss Dalby and Miss Ellen Shotbolt.

COMMISSION IS TOLD OF TRIAL

Police Commissioner W. E. Stanland Reports on Libel Hearing

After Second Trial He Will Present Report of Interest For Citizens

"All rumors which reflected on Detective Phipps appeared to originate with T. R. Cockerill, private detective, according to the evidence submitted, and the private detective, who is also a writer, said that he had been told of the report by a woman whom he named."

This is an extract from a report made by Police Commissioner W. E. Stanland to the Victoria Police Commission regarding the Marshall and Bracken libel action in Vancouver. Commissioner Stanland, who was appointed by the local commission to attend the trial, made the report without malice or prejudice, he told the commission yesterday. It was merely a resume of the court proceedings as he had seen them, he explained.

NO VERIFICATION

The commissioner's report continued: "Also Cockerill had reported that Phipps had given a receipt on the back of an oil cloth table cover for a $50

Commissioner Stanland indicated that when the second trial of Marshall and Bracken is concluded, he would have a fuller report to bring down which would be of considerable interest to the commissioners and citizens.

Canton, Ohio, Oct. 19.—A native gentleman, only 250 years old, offers these rules of life to the world: "Keep a quiet heart, sit like a tortoise, walk sprightly like a pigeon and sleep like a dog." He claims to have several friends even older than himself.

CLERGYMAN'S SON WEDS LOCAL GIRL

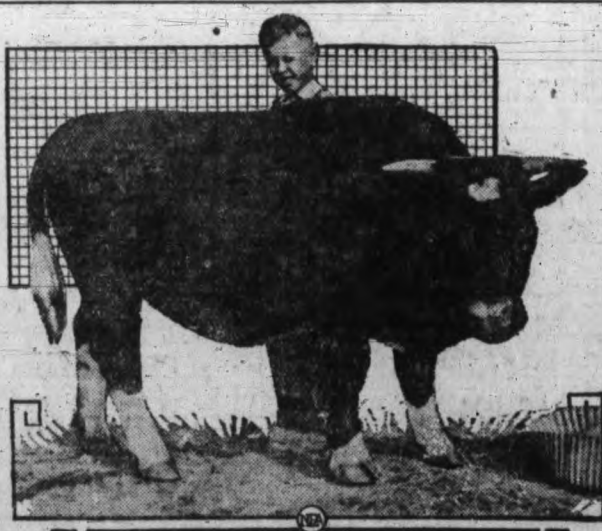

Mr. Edward J. Fatt and Miss Lillian Mary Pritchett United

St. John's Church was the scene of a very pretty Autumn wedding on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 when Lillian Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. Pritchett, was united in marriage to Edward John, youngest son of the Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Fatt, the ceremony being performed by the groom's father, assisted by the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother Harold, looked beautiful in her simple gown of ivory crepe-back satin and veil of Brussels net and carried a basket of call lilies. The bridegroom, Miss Amy Ray, was given in marriage by her brother Harold, looked beautiful in her simple gown of ivory crepe-back satin and veil of Brussels net and carried a basket of call lilies. Keeping the Child Free From Skin Diseases

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

When the child leaves its home and attends the ordinary school it sometimes becomes subject to contamination of parasites affecting the skin. Indeed, it stands the same chance that its parents take in their daily lives, and the addition that it is constantly in intimate contact with the same group. Thus school children are not infrequently disturbed by head lice and scabies or the itch. The head louse is becoming less and less frequently a disturber of school children, owing to the fact that regular inspections are now made in well managed schools. This parasite is extremely prolific. A female will lay from 250 to 300 eggs at the rate of about 70 a day. HOW IT SPREADS. Promiscuous interchanging of hats and hair brushes serves to spread the parasite. Following irritation set up by crawling and biting, the child scratches and secondary infections of the scalp result. There are all sorts of good methods of cleansing the scalp of parasites that infect it. The best ones involve thorough washing and the application of a good solution such as kerosene, which will kill the parasites and the eggs. The condition known as scabies has also been called itch. It is due to a little parasite that gets under the skin. Its elimination involves the use of proper sulphur ointments and the thorough cleaning of all of the bed linen and clothing used by the child. Ringworm sometimes appears in school children, beginning on the surface of the skin or scalp as a red spot which spreads. The diagnosis of ringworm infection should be checked by a physician who will make an examination for the presence of the organism that causes it. PIMPLES. Children, beginning with the age of 12, frequently suffer with acne, or pimples. Not all children are equally subject to the condition. It seems to be associated with a disturbance of the sebaceous glands and the amount of grease in the skin. Physicians advise under such circumstances a simple diet with lessened amounts of starches and sweet foods, also thorough attention to the bowels and their activity. Excessive and unsuitable clothing adds to the development and spread of the disorders of the skin with pimples. It prevents proper function of the skin and deprives the body of stimulation provided by cool air and sunlight. If the child is given plenty of outdoor air and sunlight on its skin, the texture and quality of the skin will probably improve greatly. This is one of the reasons why the outdoor sunlight gets better results under such conditions than artificial light apparatus.

WHY TAKE A BUS TO SCHOOL?—Little James Tegel of Battle Creek, Neb., rides "cow-back" to school each day. For this midget purebred short-horn cow is his mode of travel. The cow stands only thirty-nine inches in height. She is owned by James' father and is seven years old.

BIG PAPER MILL IS DESCRIBED

Colwood Women's Institute Meeting Hears Interesting Address

Colwood, Oct. 19.—A well-attended meeting of the Colwood Women's Institute was held Wednesday afternoon in the Institute room. Arrangements were made for the Halloween social to be held in Colwood Hall on Wednesday evening, October 21. Committees were formed and details arranged. A unique and interesting programme of Halloween contests will be presented. A discussion of the matter was left over.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. H. A. Hinks of Langford, took as her subject "A Day in a Pulp and Paper Mill." The pulp and paper mill under review was that of the Pacific Mills of Ocean Falls, B.C.

Mrs. Hinks took her audience, step by step, through this gigantic hive of industry, illustrating with samples of the product at the various stages of manufacture.

Mrs. Hinks also displayed an excellent photograph of the million dollar dam, from which the Pacific Mills derive their power and the vast amount of water used in paper manufacturing. The speaker described this dam as one of the greatest engineering feats in British Columbia.

A directors' meeting of the Methodist Farmers' Institute will be held at 7.30 p.m. next Monday, at the home of Neil Pollock, Parson's Bridge.

The Colwood Athletic Club will resume their classes for the Winter season with a meeting on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in Colwood Hall. George Palline of Luxton will act as boxing instructor.

The weekly card-party held by the Colwood Hall committee on Wednesday was an enjoyable affair. The winners were Mrs. R. Murray and E. C. Parker. The committee in charge of refreshments was composed of Mesdames H. Parker and J. Hopwood.

Colwood basketball team met defeat Wednesday at the hands of the Langford School team, the latter winning with a score of 20-6. A return game will be played Wednesday afternoon, October 24.

ROSSETTI'S WORK IS THEME OF FINE OPENING LECTURE

Dr. G. C. Sedgewick Explains Exotic Character of Poet's Writings

Luxurious, exotic, lavish, a verse which fairly throbs when the poet is at his best, were some of the terms used by Dr. G. C. Sedgewick, Ph.D., of the University of British Columbia, when describing the works of Dante Gabriel Rossetti in his address on the nineteenth century poet and painter delivered before an audience which packed the Victoria College lecture room to capacity last night. It was the opening meeting of the University Extension Association.

Dr. Sedgewick briefly pictured the early life of Rossetti, son of an Italian whose hot blood the poet had undoubtedly inherited. In the crowded house where politics were discussed at all times, and where the incessant fire of conversation created in the man a natural repugnance towards things political, and a desire to shun social intercourse. Rossetti was nourished on the work of Dante, and assimilated some of the attributes of the great Italian poet, said Dr. Sedgewick. This was unquestionably shown in his work, the lecturer said, illustrating his point by citing the almost identical endings of Rossetti's "Blessed Damozelle" and Dante's "Paradiso."

As Rossetti matured he became a sensualistic mystic, a writer and painter, paying infinite attention to details appealing to the senses, a sensualist in imagery, movement and diction, lavishing on his work all the fervor of an idolator on an object of adoration, remarked Dr. Sedgewick.

Although this is Rossetti's centenary, nothing worth while has been published in criticism of the poet, Dr. Sedgewick said. The latest work, Evelyn Waugh's compilation, was merely a record of his works and incidents in

MAIL BUSINESS STARTED TO STIMULATE DIVORCES

Monaco Lawyers Send Out Pamphlets to Prospective Clients; Cocktails and Bridge Debts Cited As Possible Grounds for Suits in Principality.

Monte Carlo, Oct. 18.—A "direct by mail" campaign has been started in an effort to locate prospective divorcees in the Riviera lawyers' scramble for business. American and British couples, from honeymooners to those who have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, are being mailed a small booklet entitled "How you can get your divorce."

Accompanying the pamphlet is a personal letter from the Monaco lawyers who originated this novel idea of stimulating business. Should the husband desire a third cocktail before dinner the wife may turn to page three and inform him excessive drinking is a just cause for divorce in Monaco.

During his time he was severely criticised on this point by Robert Buchanan, who referred to him in a review as one of the "Fleeting School of Poets." Although this was to a certain extent justifiable, Dr. Sedgewick considered the criticism a little too biting in view of the fact that Rossetti looked upon the flesh as the incarnation of the spirit, and believed in the doctrine expounded in the phrase, "Let us not say that soul helps flesh more now than flesh helps soul."

When speaking of Rossetti's paintings, Dr. Sedgewick said that undoubtedly the man's work was out of fashion in that he paid so much attention to detail that the picture as a whole lost its significance and the intricate figures on the canvas attracted the eye to such an extent that the complete whole was lost in a number of individual high lights. Moreover, many modern critics would say that the picture told too much of a story, and the idea behind the painting should have been expressed in writing rather than in color.

However, Dr. Sedgewick stated that Rossetti belonged to that school of pre-Raphaelites who had contributed much to English arts by clarifying colors and producing vivid representations of characters.

BEST IN SONNET FORM Some of Rossetti's greatest works were written in the sonnet form, the speaker said when dealing with the versification of his writings. The man had a century of sonnet writers behind him, and was able to draw on all the devices used by previous poets as well as incorporate his own personal touch into his work. In his skillful manipulation of thought and expression and his ability to select intricate rhymes, Rossetti at his best was unsurpassed in this field, Dr. Sedgewick said.

During the lecture the speaker contrasted the works and temperaments of Dante Rossetti and his sister, Christina. Both were mystics, he said, but whereas the brother had developed along sensualistic lines, the sister had become an ascetic. Where Dante Rossetti used the material themes of the Oxford movement in his work, Christina dealt with the spiritual side. Yet underlying all there was a fundamental similarity in the writings of the two, and among the sister's more sensuous poetry were pieces that could have come from the man's pen, while Dante's work at his most austere moments closely resembled Christina's.

Dr. Sedgewick closed his address by saying that although Rossetti had not the appeal for the Puritanical English reader that he had for the broad-minded continental student, he was nevertheless a most enlightening and moving poet.

Miss C. moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer for his instructive and enjoyable address, and A. B. Sanders, the newly elected president of the association, expressed the audience's appreciation of the lecture.

When the wife asks for a little more cash, to pay a bridge debt, friend husband need only point out Section 4, Page 2, which states that a person married to a perpetual gambler may obtain a divorce in this principality. This paragraph also works in the opposition sense when a stag poker party is in formation. It is also dangerous to complain about the menu in front of the servants, because friend wife might take that as semi-public humiliation, which is carefully treated on Page 7.

As the author if this unique work carefully points out in his personal letter: "You probably have some definite reasons for wanting a divorce. Read the enclosed treatise carefully. It has been prepared for those who are uncertain whether they have sufficient grounds to secure a divorce. We guarantee results and secrecy."

NATURAL APPETITE ARRIVES WHEN STOMACH IS EMPTY

Mrs. T. S. T. writes: "I want to ask what you would advise in this case. I have a grandson of nine years who will not eat. His mother has to sit and feed him, much to the disgust of the family. She has taken him to a doctor with no help. He never seems hungry. In the morning he has orange juice for breakfast, some time before his coat, cereal and milk. Now I content the orange juice fills him up and prevents his having an appetite. I shall watch for your solution."

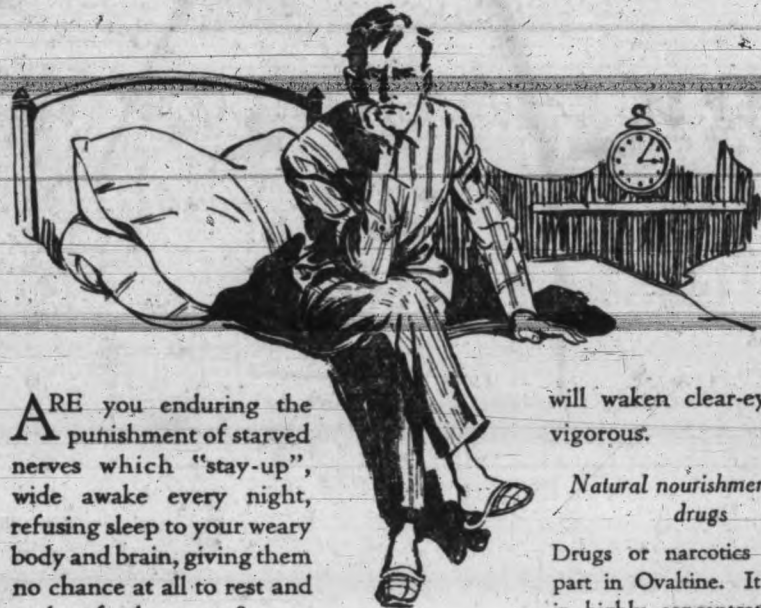

ANSWER There is the simplest sort of an answer to this problem. If you have had the child to a doctor and know there is nothing wrong with him, then stop feeding him immediately. If he refuses to eat, let him go away from the table without any comment whatsoever. He needn't take one bite. Refrain from now on from even suggesting of his eating or his not eating. Never mention it. No doubt the boy is having a beautiful time attracting the attention of the whole family by his inability to eat unless fed. Can't you see how important this makes him feel?

At the next regular meal time, and he isn't to have one bite of anything in between. No matter how hard he teases, put a small portion of food on his plate and tell him firmly that he is now old enough to feed himself and it will no longer be done for him. Stick to this. It is quite up to you. He may play with this food and not eat it, and in one-half hour, without notifying him at all, or asking him if he is going to eat or anything, take the food away. When dinner is over he must leave the table, too. Let him continue this until he has found out that he is eating because food is enjoyable to him when he is hungry and not to please his mother and the family. When he has learned that lesson he will start eating without any trouble.

The orange juice is a real stimulant to his appetite and as liquids, all except fats, leave the stomach very shortly the orange juice does not fill his stomach and spoil his appetite. He doesn't eat probably because he may have always been overfed and never allowed to know the real pangs of hunger, and because by refusing to eat unless fed he has made himself an object of attention.

Such cases are the A.B.C. of the problems of appetiteless children. They can be multiplied over and over. When the child discovers that food is pleasant, that he eats it because he is hungry, and it becomes a satisfaction to him, instead of a three-times-a-day duty, then your problem will be solved. It depends quite as much upon you as upon the child. The mother can end this problem herself in two days, and after that the child will have an appetite and will eat.

FALL HATS ARE MADE OF FELT, NATURALLY

By Florence La Gank

Even though the Fall hats are made of felt there is a something about them which distinguishes them from the Summer or Spring or last Winter's felt hats. Felt is here to stay. Soile will make a bid for favor, so will some of the more bulky hat materials, but felt cannot be ousted, seemingly from the high favor it has occupied for the past few years. The Autumn brims are smaller than those used in Summer. For young girls the brim is almost ruffled, although it is not as ruffled as the word sounds. A cloche of this type may bring the loose ends of brim toward the front and tie them into a simple knot with ends.

The more sophisticated hat may use the crystal ring to catch the top knot ends, or it may use the newer fastening—silver square buckle. The movement is still down over the right cheek. Sometimes a tailored ribbon or feather arrangement ends the descent abruptly like a stylish shoe brush.

Margaret is looking at a hat here which has much style. This particular one is worked out in felt. For the older person it may use hatter's plush and felt. They are fashioned together and then finished with a

Bread Making around the world

The Clay Oven

IN constructing this oven an elevated stage is built, over which stout sticks are placed, and covered with a mixture of clay and grass or moss. Into this are bent willow saplings and the whole covered with grass, over which about three inches of clay is plastered. An opening is left in front for the fire, and one on top for a flue. A fire is then lit inside, which burns up the grass and willows. When bread is to be baked, the oven is well heated, the fire drawn, the loaves (usually rye) placed inside, and the oven tightly sealed. The oven retains sufficient heat to thoroughly bake the bread without burning. This type of oven is often seen being used by immigrants on construction work in this country.

Feature Sports Programme For Tomorrow

Outside Athletes Will Be In City To Compete Against Victoria Teams

Victoria U.C.T. to Clash With U.B.C. in "Big Four" Rugby Game; Students Will Also Tackle Victoria Capitals in the First Exhibition Basketball Game of Season; Three Fine First Division Soccer Games Scheduled; Boxing Card Is Scheduled for Fans at Night

Sport lovers of Victoria will have plenty of variety this weekend. One of the best programmes of sport scheduled for some considerable time awaits their pleasure and patronage. On the list is soccer football, Canadian rugby, basketball and boxing. All these sports are headliners, and should draw good crowds.

Saturday's complete card, with the starting times, is as follows:

3 p.m.—Canadian Rugby, Victoria U.C.T. vs. Vancouver Varsity at Royal Athletic Park.
3 p.m.—Third First Division football games at Beacon Hill, Central Park and Work Point grounds. Three junior and juvenile games will also be played.
7:30 p.m.—Basketball, Victoria Capitals vs. Vancouver Varsity, at high school gymnasium.
8:30 p.m.—Boxing at Tillicum Gymnasium.

CANADIAN RUGBY

With his team at full strength, Coach Ernie Cook of the Victoria U.C.T. expects to pull a big surprise to-morrow afternoon when his proteges clash with the University of British Columbia in a "Big Four" Canadian rugby game. The local players have been working hard all week and their ambition is to go out and show Varsity the league champions have won two games in as many starts this season.

The Victoria team, after a rather disappointing showing in their opening game, when they lost to Vancouver, stepped out last week to overwhelm New Westminster. A win to-morrow for Victoria will put them right in the running, while should Varsity win it will give them undisputed leadership of the league.

Varsity have a number of last year's stars back in their lineup and their coaches figure the club good enough to repeat their last season's success. The victors will be without the services of Capt. Vic Odium, who suffered a broken nose in last week's game with Vancouver.

The teams will be as follows:
Victoria: Fines, Macpherson, McDonald, McAllister, Henderson, de Blackquiere, J. Horne, McMillan, Hunnington, Newell, Skilling, Gaunt, Pratt, Emery, Kinsman, Lemm and Morby.
Vancouver: Smith, Hall, Comozzi, Jackson, Pierce, Duncan, Cummings, Westworth, Dixon, Grauer, Gillanders, Shields, Watson, D. Odium, Coleman, R. Odium, Gittus, Bertex and Dixon.

SOCCER

Hundreds of football fans will gather at Beacon Hill to-morrow afternoon to witness the First Division soccer match between Victoria City and the Victoria Wests. These teams will be fighting for the leadership of the league and it looks like one of the tie-bits of the season.

In the other two matches Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt will meet at the Work Point grounds while Five C's and Westholmes are slated to play at Central Park.
With one point separating them in the league averages the West-City game should be a thriller. The City have played four games and have chalked up as many wins, while the Wests have won three and drawn one out of their four starts.

LOSE ONE, GET ANOTHER
Since the start of the season the fans have been looking forward to the game between these clubs and to-morrow their desire will be realized. The City will be without the services of Glancy, their regular right winger, who is under suspension for six weeks. However, they will have Peter Campbell at full-back and he will strengthen the back division considerably.

At Central Park the two tail-end clubs will battle to see which one remains in the cellar position. Neither the Westholmes nor Five C's have chalked up a win so far this season.
The Esquimalt-Thistles game should produce some good soccer with both teams needing a victory in order to keep stride with the fast pace being set by the City and Wests.

The teams will be as follows:
Saanich Thistles team for to-morrow's game will be selected from: Rogers, Hogan, Joe Crowe, Harper, Campbell, Miller, Viggers, Jim Crowe, D'Arcy McCallum, Essler, Minnie and Ewing.
Five C's will line up as follows: Wiloughby, Sharkey, Barwood, Thorpe, Barneywell, Moulton, Sutton, Sands, W. Graham, Davidson and McConnell.
Victoria West—Hetherington, Sid Vignaratt, Passmore, Peter Campbell, Thompson, Stewart, Plump, Robinson and Mulcahy.
Westholmes—Bennett, Tucker, Carmichael, McIvor, Carter, Vick, Greenwood, McNaughton, Southern, Sneddon and Tipper. Reserves, Dryborough, Kelman and Carver.
Esquimalt—Chalmers, Sweeney, Joe Watt, Homer, Mecher, De Costa, Stewart, John Watt, McNeill, Wagland and Collier.
Royal Oak—Johnston, Leggett, Hallet, Williams, Campbell, Chapman, Robbins, Moore, Gibson and Viggers.

Victoria City—T. Bridges, A. Campbell, Marston, Miller, Preston, McBay, Gould, D. Bissell, C. Bissell, Burns, Cameron, Bowman and Ross.
Y.M.C.A.—Paterson, Hamill, Higgins, Bailey, Owen, Brown, Hill, Hargrave, Farrington, Smith, Stark and Johnston.

Junior and juvenile games scheduled to-morrow are as follows:

Y.M.C.A. vs. Victoria City, at Hampton Road.
Bapcos vs. Oaklands, at Victoria West.
James Island vs. Esquimalt, at James Island.
All the above games will start at 3 o'clock.

JUVENILE
Division I—James Bay vs. Royal Oak, upper Beacon Hill, 3 o'clock.
Division II—James Bay vs. Saanich Thistles, upper Beacon Hill, 1:45 o'clock; Maple Leafs vs. Five C's, lower Beacon Hill, 1:45 o'clock.
Division III—Esquimalt vs. Victoria City, Heywood Avenue, 1:45 o'clock.

Meets McDermott

DUSTY MILLER

Heavily colored heavyweight, who will meet Jimmy McDermott of Seattle in the main event of the card to be staged to-morrow night at the Tillicum gym by the Central Boxing Club. Miller, who is considered one of the best on the Coast, is in the pink of condition and his appearance is expected to draw a record house.

With the Bowlers

Bowling in line form, the Night Owls took their first encounter in the Commercial Bowling League from the Col. only at the Arcade Alley last night. The winners took three straight games.

W. Norris topped the individual scores with 200, and an aggregate of 543 and 1,000 respectively.

DOUBLE THE SCORE

The Victoria Super Service team showed the first signs of the class of ball of which they are capable of last night when they defeated the Centennial team 40-20. The teamwork of the boys is not what it might be but they should be a long way in the division this year. Cudlip was the big noise in the station's victory, collecting twenty-two points. Barbour got seven and back Cudlip refereed and the teams were:

Centennial—A. Woods 4, A. Walker, W. Jones, J. A. Zarelli, J. Minnie, L. Ockenden, H. Beck, M. Barr, K. Moody, L. Zarelli.

INSLANDERS WIN

In the final game of the evening James Island took Keating into camp by a score of 36-14. The game was fast all the way and produced the best ball of the evening.

L. Forbes refereed. The teams were: Keating—N. Tamm, Mitchell 2, Sutton, A. Styan 4, L. Styan 4, Nimmo 4.
Islanders—G. Smith 15, Ross 16, Rowbotham, Rivers 4, Jenkinson 3, Bond, Field.

All City League games scheduled at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night have been cancelled on account of the exhibition game at the High School between the Victoria Capitals and Vancouver Varsity.

SIX LEADERS WILL BATTLE

Blackburn Rovers, the cup holders, will travel to Burnley, and a first class match should result. Another attractive affair will be the meeting between Manchester City and Leeds United, promoted Second Division clubs who are doing wonderfully well in senior company. They play at Leeds. Then there is the game between West Ham United and Everton in London.

COUNTY HAS FINE CHANCE

Derby County, forced out of the "leadership" last week, has a fine chance to get back again, because it must meet Sheffield United, which is very near the cellar now.

CHIEFS AND HULL CITY ARE AT THE PEAK OF THE SECOND DIVISION TABLE

should have little difficulty in staying there, as they are to play Oldham Athletic, who have won only one match this season. Hull City have a harder nut to crack in Stoke City, though they have the advantage of playing at home.

A FINE ATTRACTION

The Scottish First Division schedule has a fine attraction in the Rangers-Celtic match, which naturally overshadows all the other fixtures.

Eighteen Amateur Hockey Players Will Report at Portland For Try-outs

Has Also Contracts of Three Professionals; Ernie Leacock Signs

Bobby Rowe, popular pilot of the Rosebuds, Portland's entry in the newly organized Pacific Coast Hockey League, has lined up a big array of hockey players, according to his list of players announced a few days ago.

Eighteen players have been signed and ordered to report to Rowe in Portland for a try-out. The roll will be composed mostly of former amateurs. Rowe, who made a scouting trip this summer, has signed three professional stars as well. They are Red Conn, outstanding star of the Western Canada circuit last season; Babe Morrison, who goes to Portland from Detroit, and Ike Morrison, who played two years with the Regina and Edmonton clubs, purchased from Moosejaw. Fans will be interested to hear that Rowe has signed Ernie Leacock, who played several games with the Victoria amateur team last season.

AMATEUR PLAYERS

The amateurs ordered to report are as follows:
Paul Runge, Edmonton, forward; Dan Carrigan, Edmonton, forward; Joe McDonald, Calgary, defence; Frank Burke, Lacombe, Alta., defence; Bob Wilson, Saskatoon, defence; Jack Pratt, Roseland, B.C., forward; Grove, Edmonton, forward; Earl Armstrong, Ottawa, defence; Red Branch, Winnipeg, goal; Herbie Watt, Lacombe, Alta., goal; Ernie Leacock, Banff, forward; E. J. Johnson, Edmonton, forward; F. Hamilton, Saskatoon, forward; Clint Rhodes, Seattle, Alta., forward.

Workers at the Vancouver Arena have commenced to make ice for the opening of the ice palace on Wednesday afternoon next. Vancouver this year will have skating privileges practically six days of the year in the coast cities. Rinks in Victoria, Portland and Seattle will not open until November 1.

The teamwork of the boys is not what it might be but they should be a long way in the division this year. Cudlip was the big noise in the station's victory, collecting twenty-two points. Barbour got seven and back Cudlip refereed and the teams were:

Centennial—A. Woods 4, A. Walker, W. Jones, J. A. Zarelli, J. Minnie, L. Ockenden, H. Beck, M. Barr, K. Moody, L. Zarelli.

INSLANDERS WIN

In the final game of the evening James Island took Keating into camp by a score of 36-14. The game was fast all the way and produced the best ball of the evening.

L. Forbes refereed. The teams were: Keating—N. Tamm, Mitchell 2, Sutton, A. Styan 4, L. Styan 4, Nimmo 4.
Islanders—G. Smith 15, Ross 16, Rowbotham, Rivers 4, Jenkinson 3, Bond, Field.

SIX LEADERS WILL BATTLE

Blackburn Rovers, the cup holders, will travel to Burnley, and a first class match should result. Another attractive affair will be the meeting between Manchester City and Leeds United, promoted Second Division clubs who are doing wonderfully well in senior company. They play at Leeds. Then there is the game between West Ham United and Everton in London.

COUNTY HAS FINE CHANCE

Derby County, forced out of the "leadership" last week, has a fine chance to get back again, because it must meet Sheffield United, which is very near the cellar now.

CHIEFS AND HULL CITY ARE AT THE PEAK OF THE SECOND DIVISION TABLE

should have little difficulty in staying there, as they are to play Oldham Athletic, who have won only one match this season. Hull City have a harder nut to crack in Stoke City, though they have the advantage of playing at home.

A FINE ATTRACTION

The Scottish First Division schedule has a fine attraction in the Rangers-Celtic match, which naturally overshadows all the other fixtures.

Approve Sports Field and Park For Lake Hill

Development of a football field and a public park in Lake Hill district was advanced last night by the Saanich council.

Reeve Crouch and Councillor Borden were named a committee to negotiate for properties for the proposed football field on Reynolds Street.

The council approved recommendations, recently supported by a large meeting of Lake Hill. The quadrangle of land is to be used to be made of $10,000 allotted the area by the council as a share of profit from sale of the Lake Hill bus line.

"Shorty" Green To Coach Duluth Team

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 19.—Wilfred "Shorty" Green, coach and manager of the New York American hockey team for the last two seasons, has signed a contract to coach the Duluth team of the American Hockey Association this year.

Stanley Harris Appointed Manager Of Detroit Team

Detroit, Oct. 19.—Appointment of Stanley Harris as manager of the Detroit American League baseball team was announced to-day by Frank L. Navin, president of the local club. Harris, who led the Washington American team to two pennants and a world's championship title, succeeds George Moriarty, whose resignation was announced this week. The length of the Harris contract and its financial terms were withheld.

SCORES ARE ONE-SIDED IN HOOP GAMES

Navy, Nuggets, Victoria Super-service and James Island Are Winners

Super-service Flash Real Form to Beat Centennial; Islanders Going Strong

The basketball games last night at the Centennial gym were all decided by one-sided scores. Navy, Nuggets, Victoria Super Service and James Island were the victorious squads and the Navy was the only team which had any trouble gaining a decision.

In the first game the navy took the Normal School into camp by a score of 21-16. This game was the closest of the evening but also displayed the most rugged style of play during the evening.

Barker, for the winners, collected thirteen points while Fyfe got eight for Normal.

Jack Taylor refereed. The teams were: Navy—Freeman, Barker 13, Orr, Mack 2, Robinson 6, Sta—
Normal—Fyfe 8, Warner, Martin 2, West, Trotter, Bowbrick, Ironside 6.

EASY VICTORY

The ladies' games was a one-sided affair with the Nuggets coming out on the long end of a 16-0 score. The New Method did not have their shooting eyes in and did not get a single point. Dot Rendle got two points for the winners and was the star of the game.

The teams were as follows:
Nuggets—H. Scott, K. Scott 2, V. Vickers, D. Rendle 12, V. Fairweather, K. Hill 2.

New Method—J. Zarelli, J. Minnie, L. Ockenden, H. Beck, M. Barr, K. Moody, L. Zarelli.

DOUBLE THE SCORE

CLASSY LIST OF FIGHTERS WILL PERFORM

Pick of Vancouver's Mitt Slingers Will Appear Here Next Week

"Bad News" Eber to Arrive Wednesday to Train For 10-Round Go

One of the classiest fight cards to be offered Victoria fans for some years has been lined up for next week's show under the auspices of the Victoria Boxing Club, at the Sons of Canada Hall. The first preliminary bout will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Besides the main event in which "Bad News" Bobby Eber, of Toronto, meets Tommy Fielding over the ten-round route the club has lined up a first-class list of preliminaries.

Eber will arrive in Victoria next Wednesday in company with Jack Allen, who is acting as his manager on the coast. He will work out at the Victoria Boxing Club's quarters, Victoria West.

EXPECT FAST BOUT
In the semi-wind-up Albie Davies, Victoria's classy little 118-pounder, has been matched to meet Johnny McDonald, of Vancouver. Both boys are fast and clever and a splendid four-round bout is anticipated.

A special event has been arranged with Tim Keist, of Victoria, meeting Joe Townsend, of Vancouver. This bout is scheduled to last four rounds with the boys fighting at 128 pounds.

Townsend, who is a brother of Billy's, is claimed to be one of the best-looking prospects in Vancouver, so Tim should have his hands full.

In the opening bout Jumbo Davies, of Victoria, will meet Tommy McBeigh, of Vancouver. The latter, who is exceedingly clever, will be a tough nut for Jumbo to crack, and if he earns a draw it will boost his stock considerably.

MAY CHANGE GOLF BALLS

Experiments Being Carried Out By U.S.G.A.; No Change Until 1930

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The United States Golfers' Association is experimenting with golf balls of various sizes and weights with the object of producing a better ball for all around tournament play, but no change is contemplated before 1930, it has been reported.

Experiments were started following another outburst of criticism this summer that the present regulation ball was too heavy and that long distance hitters like Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen had too much of an advantage over specialists in iron play during the championship tournaments.

The U.S.G.A. plans to make the golf ball a trifle larger and somewhat lighter if any change is made at all, Traylor said.

Pirates to Meet Navy Fifteen In Exhibition Game

An exhibition rugby game will be played to-morrow afternoon at the Canton grounds between the Pirates and Navy, commencing at 3 o'clock.

The following players will represent the Pirates: Macmurchie, Moorehouse, H. D. and F. Parfitt, Chunggranes, Clark, Morris, Waites, Henley, Harman, McRae, Lee, Greaves, Barker, Weaver, Quinn, Bundock, Cornille and Diepkecker.

N. H. L. Players Go Into Training For Hard Season's Grind

Several Teams, Especially Two New Yorkers, Experience Trouble Signing Players; Fredrickson Chums Up Again With Boston; Ike Morrison, Formerly With Moosejaw, Signs Contract

With Pete Muldoon's Rosebuds; Regina Hockey Fans Not Favorable Toward Professional Hockey

National Hockey League teams are now in training for the opening of the season on November 15 when all the teams will swing into action. With the release of the schedule this week managers are getting their players into shape while some are busily scanning time tables in readiness to embark for their opening lifts.

Several of the clubs are experiencing trouble in signing their players, but the two New York teams, the Rangers and Americans, seem to be in the worst fix in this respect.

Frankie Boucher, star centre player of the Rangers, is said to be the chief cause for worry in their camp, with Boucher Keeling and several others demanding higher salaries than the club desires to pay.

FAR FROM SERENE
In the American camp, things are also far from serene with regard to the players. All the contracts of the Tigers purchased three years ago, expired this fall, as did that of Lionel Conacher, whom the Americans subsequently secured from the Pittsburgh team in exchange for Charlie Langlois.

Manager Tommy Gorman admitted recently that the task of getting a team for the Americans is the toughest he had ever tackled. The Americans cleaned house and got rid of practically all their trouble-makers and are now faced with a bunch of hold-overs whose numbers include Conacher, Billy Burch, Vernon Forbes, Jess Spring and Leo Reise. Himes and Bouchard are said to be the only men signed for this season.

The Americans have been making desperate efforts to strengthen, but have found it impossible to purchase stars and their followers realize that Bill Dwyer and his associates will have to accomplish miracles in order to make any kind of a showing in the National Hockey League during the next couple of seasons. Martin Barry of Montreal has been farmed out to the New Haven club.

Nearly all the players counted on by the Toronto Hockey Club for this winter campaign are under contract to the club as the majority of last year's team had signed three-year contracts. Those in the camp of the Toronto club include Happy Day, defence star and last year's captain, and Shorty Horne, the right winger, purchased from Stratford of the Canadian League, who is expected to sign along the dotted line any day but so far the club has failed to get in touch with Horne.

The case of the Boston Bruins is another. Elgin for two weeks' training and then will return to Toronto for practice at the Arena Gardens in preparation for the league opening on November 15, against the Chicago Black Hawks.

Manager Conny Smythe has several deals under consideration and if they fall through he will have to look to the followers of the local club before long. John Roche, goalie, has figured in a trade for Lorne Chabot of the New York Rangers.

Well-known in Moose Jaw and Regina as a professional hockey player, the Morrison, is leaving Moose Jaw to join the Port Huron club, who have within the next few days. For some time the Port Huron club have been negotiating with "Ike" and towards the end of last week he signed up with them. "Ike" is in the pink of condition and the injured hip which impeded his performance last year is now right again.

The Boston Bruins will open their 1928-29 season on November 15, in the Square Garden on Tuesday night, November 20, according to an announcement made recently by President Charles F. Adams of the club. Their opponents will be the Canadiens of Montreal, for years the most spectacular club in the National Hockey League.

The Bruins will start on the road. The first game is scheduled in Pittsburgh against the club recently bought by Murray Leonard, on Thursday, November 15. From there the Bruins will hop to Ottawa to meet the Senators on Saturday night. This is the first time five seasons of hockey that the team has not opened at home.

Manager Art Ross is in Montreal, but will come to Boston on Monday. The squad will report the latter part of this week and work will begin October 22. The team may do part of its pre-season practicing at the Providence Arena, for the ice surface at the Garden will not be available much before the opening of the season.

The first sign of hockey in Boston was seen last week when Frank Fredrickson, tall centre, arrived in town from the Canadian west with Mrs. Fredrickson and their two children. He has been dividing his time this summer between selling insurance and flying an old trade of his. House-hunting is his present occupation.

J. T. (Joe) Gangulish, one of the directors of the Saskatoon professional hockey club, since that organization, took over control of local moneyed interests there six years ago from the A. Boythatch company, announced recently that he has purchased the Oakland franchise in the California league. Saskatoon hockey magnates were offered the Oakland franchise, and after some consideration, Mr. Gangulish decided to go through with the deal himself. The California professional hockey season opens on November 27 and Mr. Gangulish plans to leave for Oakland. He has a good roster of players lined up and expects to sign several others within the next two weeks.

considered one of the greatest centres in professional hockey, whose services have been obtained by Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, from Toronto.

In exchange for Roach, the Rangers gave the Maple Leafs Lorne Chabot and a cash consideration of about $10,000.

Little or no enthusiasm, and a relatively greater lack of interest, over the tidings that the Prairie Professional League may continue to operate in those parts for a third consecutive Winter.

Promised some high-class puck-potting in both the senior and junior divisions of the amateur realm, the railbirds find themselves unable to do any flag-waving over the announcement that the Caps may function again in company with Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Prince Albert.

The stage is all set for a big amateur season. Regina holds the Canadian Junior championship, and will throw the rail-saw a lean day for form players, only two of the six favorites getting into the money.

Omaran, a Rockland filly of high degree, owned by Sybil & Graham, established as a topping favorite in the feature two-year-old event, was lost in a jumbled shuffle at the three-quarter pole, out of which broke the Palmwood Stable entry, Convergence, who came strong on the inside, never to be challenged, even by the other outsider, Star Picnic, a light back. S. Lewis's Gureda and O. B. Bailey's Alton Lad were the two favorites that brought cheers from the talent.

THE EFFECT OF THE STANCE
ON THE SWING

Somewhere recently I read a statement attributed to Alee Gerard which pointed out that nearly all players who finish the swing with the right toe pointing toward the hole, are habitually off line to the left. Gerard recognizes the importance of footwork, and traces a common fault to a source for which few would search.

To illustrate the idea, let the player take his stance to play a stroke; then without swinging, but with weight distributed upon both feet, let him turn the right foot upon its ball until the toe points along the line of play. The movement places a greater portion of the weight of the body upon the right foot, and if it is done quickly, even upon the heel of that foot, the body has been swung around and backward, so that the only conceivable way of hitting the ball would result in pulling it far off line.

PLACING OF FEET IMPORTANT
There is a great deal more to be thought of in placing the feet than whether the stance adopted be open or closed. Alee Gerard directs attention to placing the feet in positions which will facilitate and encourage the proper action of the other members of the body. The knee and hip joints ought to be directed and supported rather than hindered in performing the acts required of them.

Take for example the man who has difficulty completing a long-sweeping swing or who finds himself forced backward as he hits the ball. Likely he is not supple in his hips and cannot turn his body sufficiently to allow his club to come through. By turning his left foot slightly so that the toe points more nearly along the line of play he can make it much simpler to complete the swing freely and easily. The scarcely perceptible change eases the strain in the knee joint which hampered him before.

TROUBLE LIES IN TURNING
The left side is always the one which upsets what we call the "pivot." It is the left side of the body which should initiate the turn and it is usually there that forces are set up to restrict the motion. The problem therefore, in so far as it concerns the left foot, involves only the placing of that foot so that hip motion will be facilitated. All golfers have trouble turning either in taking the club back or in swinging it through. By changing the position of the left foot either motion may be made easier.

The right side performs a different function. In the first place the pivot necessary during the backswing does not involve a flexing or a turn of the right knee as is the case with the left. The right leg simply straightens and has to perform no complicated functions. This can usually be done without regard to the position of the left foot.

SHOULD HAVE FIRM STANCE

But the right foot must be in position to supply a great deal of power, an actual thrust, as the ball is hit. That is shown by the firm hold it must have upon the ground to prevent slipping. I always feel I should be safer if I could anchor my right foot against a stone wall, so that I might spring from it as a swimmer does from a turn board.

MOST POWERFUL POSITION

I believe that the most solid and powerful position in which to place the right foot is one at a ninety degree angle to the line of play. In that way the right foot offers the maximum resistance in the direction of the play, and is in position to exert the limit of force in the direction of the ball. If the right foot is turned measurably in either direction from that position there must result a weakening of the support of a restriction upon the freedom with which the hips can be thrown into the shot.

EUROPEANS MAY NOT COMPETE

Various Associations Demand Representation on Olympic Committee

New York, Oct. 19.—The 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles will have to carry along without European competition in rowing, swimming, tennis and soccer football, unless the International Olympic Commission grants representation to the associations governing those sports, it was declared yesterday by Gaston Vidal, chairman of the French Olympic committee.

With inside developments in European sports diplomacy and intrigue this round-faced, twinkling-eyed Frenchman is on the most intimate terms. He told in picturesque English of "what you call—struggle" now on between the international rowing, swimming, tennis and soccer associations on the one hand and the Olympic governing body on the other.

Clearly in sympathy with the associations in their demand for representation on the Olympic committee, M. Vidal referred to the latter organization as a "staff officer without any troops."

Petrolle Will Not Be Able to Meet McLarnin

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 19.—Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express and Contender for Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown, injured his hands so severely in his losing bout with King Tut of Minneapolis, Tuesday night that he has been forced out of the ring for six weeks.

Vancouver, Oct. 19.—Pop Foster, manager of Jimmy McLarnin, received a wire from the manager of the Olympic Auditorium, Detroit, this morning announcing the fact that Petrolle had broken his hand in the latter's last match with King Tut. This means that the match between McLarnin and Petrolle scheduled for Detroit on November 23 will be off.

Foster states that if Tex Rickard will raise his ante to thirty-three and one-third per cent of the receipts, Jimmy will fight any suitable opponent in Madison Square Garden.

On the shields are engraved the names of the winning club in the annual match for the last twenty-five years. The Victoria club is having its name engraved on the shield, as they won the match this year.

Sunset On Top 'o the World

By CHARLOTTE GORDON

On the flame-bright slopes and blue peaks about Grouse Mountain chalet, just above Vancouver City, the golden September afternoon was waning. On "Top 'o the World," three quarters of a mile high, gazing down on a panorama of waterways and city and tree-covered hills, we were, in imagination, waited on a magic carpet to a new realm of beauty. Just an hour out of Vancouver, over a winding trail with its switchbacks and bordering forest of great Douglas firs and stately pines, wound round and round and up and up to one of the most unique chalets on the continent, where is the Chilnook motto, "Klahowya" — "Greeting Friends."

In the deepening blue and purple haze, an Autumn-red sun was sinking behind the peaks. Below was unfolded the majestic sweep of the waters-washed across the Gulf of Georgia, Mount Baker's dazzling sun-robbed dome, the mighty Fraser, a silver ribbon, on its journey to the sea, across and but six miles to a distant line, the City of Vancouver. Stanley Park was clearly outlined in its greenery, and in the foreground the Narrows where pass the ships of the Seven Seas. Directly underneath were North and South Vancouver, Seymour and Capilano Creeks.

All about the world of mountains—the Lions, guardians of Vancouver's harbor, that catch the last rays of sunset, the Canal, its hunch-back clearly outlined, Crown Mountain, a part of the Sleeping Beauty Range, Dam, Goat, Cathedral, cutting scallops in the sky. The old Indian trails with their Autumn coloring of crimson, yellow and deep-red brown, beckoned to Thyne Ridge, the Flint and Feather Ridge, to Silver Cascade, along the Ilahia Trail. The Dawn-Devil Leap, the great black rock and dark chasm, two thousand feet down, reminded one of the grandeur of Kettle Valley scenery.

The little hurrying streams, the music of the pine forests, the Autumn tang of the air, were all mingled in that brooding sunset. It is difficult to visualize the unusual beauty of sunset from the top of Grouse Mountain.

The sunset glow softly faded as nature watched her magic wand. All was touched by the gentle light of evening as one of the wonders to be seen from "Top 'o the mountain" glowed before us, the lighted city of Vancouver. Down in the heart of the lowlands clearly outlined like a glittering map, lay an enchanted city—myriad of scintillating lights, square upon square of steady lights, long lines of double lights, that we marked as the main thoroughfares of the city. There were brilliant signs, some of which could be deciphered through the telescopes. We followed the lighted outline of Point Grey, and the British Columbia University. Point Atkinson light was sinking and flashing, a Canadian Pacific Express from the Orient, a blaze of light passed by. We gazed down on the heart of the city by the sea and found it a sparkling jewel. We were awed and silenced in the luminous view below us. Man had combined with nature in making "A glory never sung."

A guardian moon rode high in the sky, a star or two came out, advance of the celestial army, auto lights flashed in the blue dusk, through the tall pines as the machines wended their way round and up the tree-bordered highway to the mountain top. The strains of music from the chalet came as a soft undertone. The night was vibrant and silvery. Over all hovered the peace which only the beauty and silence of the hills can give.

Of all the scenic and accessible mountain tops in Canada, Grouse Mountain is the only one that affords an unobstructed view of a glittering city at its feet. And this wondrous picture can be seen at any season. When the mountain top is covered with tons of snow and the chalet is almost buried in drifts of winter, its lights still blaze a welcome, its fires warm and clear, its highway is kept open to motorists. Below is the ever-green land of waters and glittering city with its soft temperate winter days of green lawns and buds and occasional flowers, while winter pastimes and real winter climate are just across on the mountain top.

SINGER'S SON CONVICTED

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 19.—Henry Schumann-Heink, son of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, noted contralto, was declared guilty of grand larceny by a jury here yesterday afternoon. He was accused of having taken securities deposited with his stock and bond firm and using them as security for a personal loan. Schumann-Heink was the only witness in his own behalf when his case came to trial in superior court and his testimony lasted only about an hour. The prosecution presented five witnesses and a number of records of the brokerage house which the defendant headed.

The ship was informed by telephone that it was time to rise for breakfast. Mrs. Petrie did not respond to the call and one of the stewards was dispatched to her room. She did not answer his knock and he called officers of the ship, who entered the room by means of a pass key. The room was empty and the port hole wide open. Mrs. Petrie's clothing and other effects were strewn about the room, but there was nothing to explain the motive of her disappearance. The only conclusion reached by officers was that she climbed through the port hole in a fit of despondency.

HAD LIVED HERE

Mrs. Petrie had been in failing health for some time, according to word received here by her relatives. She was about fifty-six years of age. Mrs. Petrie lived in Victoria for many years before leaving to reside in California.

RELATIVES MEET BOAT

Mrs. Aldridge and her son Jack were at the boat this morning to meet Mrs. Petrie, and boarding the ship went to her cabin. They were surprised to find several officers in the room making examinations and gathering together the lady's baggage. Mrs. Aldridge was informed that her relative was missing, but that a complete search was being made for her in all the public rooms of the vessel. This failed to disclose any trace of her. Officers of the vessel said she must have leaped from her cabin to the sea.

Two professors, stranded, were gratified to find themselves trusted by a strange banker in a strange town. Highly flattered, they sought the reason for such trust.

"Well," explained the banker, "I calculated that any fellows who look such fools as you two could not possibly depend on swindling for a living."

PRINCESS NORAH TAKES TO WATER FOR THIS COAST

Launching Ceremonies Have All Old-time Pomp; Trials Shortly

Capt. C. C. Sainty Leaves For England To Bring New Ship Here

With all the traditional pomp and ceremony connected with the launching of a ship, the Princess Norah, latest addition to the C.P.R. fleet on the Pacific Coast, took the water on the Clyde on September 27 in the presence of C.P.R. officials and the general public. According to information reaching the city this morning from C.P.R. headquarters in Montreal.

The Montreal report says that the launching ceremony was performed in fine weather before a large crowd of Miss Mavis Gillies, daughter of Capt. James Gillies, C.B.E., general manager of the C.P.R. in England. Among others present were Hon. F. A. Pauline, agent-general in London for British Columbia; Sir Alexander Kennedy, managing director of the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company, and Sir George McLaren Brown, European manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

The launching Miss Gillies was presented by Sir Alexander Kennedy with a gold-mounted, tortoiseshell and a diamond brooch as a souvenir of the occasion.

TOASTS PROPOSED

In proposing success to the Princess Norah and those who will be passengers on her, Sir Alexander Kennedy said that while not quite so large as the vessels engaged on the Atlantic, the Princess Norah was one of the most important units which the company owned.

The new ship had been designed for the service by the Fairfield plant, which had already built the Princess Charlotte and the Princess Adelaide for the same service. Her service speed will be fifteen knots, with a full speed of sixteen knots, and her four-cylinder triple expansion oil burning engines will aggregate 2,900 horsepower.

The new ship has a length of 250 feet and a breadth of forty-eight feet, and she will carry 750 tons of deadweight cargo. Her service speed will be fifteen knots, with a full speed of sixteen knots, and her four-cylinder triple expansion oil burning engines will aggregate 2,900 horsepower.

BRING SHIP OUT

To bring the Princess Norah to the coast, Capt. C. C. Sainty, for many years in command of C.P.R. ships here, recently returned to the United Kingdom. Others leaving to come out on the new ship were Melville Mack, who will be second officer, and C. W. Young, who will act as purser and wireless officer. A. Gordon, who has been standing by during the construction of the ship in Scotland, will return to the coast as chief engineer on the vessel.

Capt. C. D. Neroutos, manager of the service, will leave in a few days to witness the trial runs of the Norah on November 12.

FORKE ASKS NEW AID FOR IMMIGRATION

Thus far, while the Minister has not yet indicated his attitude, he is well satisfied with the expressions of willingness from the prairie governments to assist and work together with the Federal Department, and with another in every possible way. But as yet the plans and policies are scarcely formulated, he points out, and he can not for this reason, of course," said Mr. Forke, "that it is British settlers Canada wants more than any other."

PEACE RIVER DISTRICT

Speaking of the Peace River wheat lands, which he recently visited and with which he was greatly impressed, Mr. Forke said it was quite impossible for him to come to any mature opinion as to the population that territory could support.

It was a general belief of those new grain lands, expressed by many of their people, that the country would be supporting 2,000,000 people within a decade or two. Mr. Forke admitted, but he did not like to make any such assertion. No doubt, he said, there were much smaller territories which comfortably supported much larger populations.

FOUND OPTIMISM

He had been struck, said the Minister, with the splendid optimism of the people of the Peace River district. They had their problems, he said, but none of them were such that they could not ultimately be overcome. He foresaw a steady development of the new grain belt, and believed the country might well be remembered when the destinations of British immigrants were considered.

OUTSTANDING PROBLEM

Mr. Forke will go to Victoria to discuss with Premier Tolmie immigration problems which face Canada, and which are admittedly, he says, one of the nation's greatest responsibilities at the present time. Recommendations of the select standing committee on agriculture of the House of Commons will be placed before the British Columbia Premier by the Federal Minister.

One of the outstanding questions connected with immigration, said Mr. Forke, was the matter of absorption of settlers. Each province had to set its figure as the country would not be swamped with immigrants and so difficulties of overcrowding would be avoided.

Mr. Forke declared he was in sympathy with the system of training British immigrants before they came to Canada.

"Such a measure," he said, "would to a large extent make it possible to select the unfit and allow only the most desirable to enter Canada."

FAMOUS HOSTEL DESTROYED IN MIDNIGHT FIRE

Coach and Horses Inn Completely Gutted in Spectacular Blaze

Loss is Set at $35,000, Partly Covered by Insurance

For forty-five years a landmark of the Esquimalt-Horizon, the famous old Coach-and-Horses Inn was to-day a mass of smoking ruins, after a spectacular midnight blaze which attracted thousands of residents from all over the city and nearby districts last night.

All the fire-fighting equipment of the Esquimalt Fire Department and the municipality's full force of fire-fighters was turned out in a vain endeavor to save the old building. The fire gained such a strong hold in its early stages that hope for the inn was soon abandoned.

PARTLY INSURED
The damage is estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000 and is partly covered by insurance. Hans Kiewow, of 81 San Juan Avenue, is the owner.

The fire started shortly after 11 o'clock, and burned with full vigor until 2 o'clock this morning, finally burning itself out by about 2.30. This morning a heap of smoldering ashes marked the spot where the once famous inn stood.

CAUSE MYSTERY
The cause of the fire was unexplained to-day, although it was thought in some quarters that the outbreak was started by an overheated stove. It will be practically impossible to ascertain the direct cause now, as everything is burned, it was stated.

The Coach and Horses had been used for the last five years as a licensed beer parlor and it was shortly after closing time that the fire started. The southeast section of the place was in flames by the time fire-fighting equipment was brought into operation and there was no possibility of controlling the conflagration after that.

LARGE CROWD
Flames and sparks shot up from the building several hundred feet and were plainly visible from the downtown section of the city. Hundreds of people who had just come from theatres were attracted by the pillar of fire.

The heat from the burning building was intense and the large crowd was kept at considerable distance. Dull explosions resounded as casks of beer burst under the heat.

BUILDING DOOMED
After fighting the flames with all available equipment, the firemen gained control but until the place was practically gutted. They concentrated on saving the beer parlor, property when it became a foregone conclusion that the inn was doomed.

The inn was at first operated by a Miss Simpson, who came out from Scotland, some forty-five years ago. It was widely known among seafaring and naval men in the late eighties. During the last five years, following its purchase by Mr. Kiewow from the Simpson estate, it was utilized as a licensed beer parlor.

Repairs amounting to $40,000 were just completed, and this afternoon on the roof of the building, according to Alexander Lockley, Esquimalt contractor.

NEW LIQUOR LAW DEBATED

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The Canadian Temperance Federation, in session here to-day, is formulating its programme for the coming year. Temperance workers from many parts of Canada are in attendance. James Hale, K.C., of Toronto, being chairman. At yesterday's session there was discussion of a court challenge to the law under which the Parliament of Canada controls in its entirety the manufacture of liquor in the Dominion. Views were expressed on the suggestion that the question be taken to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London. A special committee was named to report at to-day's session.

New Move Against Intoxicated Drivers

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—With the object of overcoming what delegates considered the difficulty in convicting persons who drive automobiles while in an intoxicated state, the Canadian Temperance Federation voted at today's session of its annual convention to ask the Federal Government to amend the Criminal Code section which deals with this subject to read "under the influence of liquor" instead of driving while "intoxicated."

The convention today also voted to ask the Federal authorities to prohibit the brewing of beer for private use. Regarding the manufacture of liquor in general, the convention desires to secure an authoritative judgment on the question of whether the authority to prohibit manufacture of liquor rests with the Federal Parliament or the Provincial Legislatures. The convention went on record as favorable to "take such steps as may be necessary to secure such a decision."

TOURIST TRAVEL VERY PROFITABLE, SAYS C. P. HILL

Chairman of Chamber Tourist Trade Group Comments at Annual Meeting

Tourist travel to Victoria this year had been very profitable, declared C. P. Hill, chairman of the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce, at the annual meeting of the group held at noon today.

The United States customs law which allows $100 worth of merchandise to be taken into the country free has been a great boon to the tourist movement, remarked Mr. Hill.

The Edmunds ferry has another fine asset for Victoria in this respect, he added.

Mr. Hill advocated closer co-operation between the tourist trade group and the civic bodies.

Outstanding in the activities of the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce during the last twelve months was the success of the Pacific Foreign Trade Conference here in September, 1927, according to the yearly report of the body submitted today.

The report, in part, was as follows: "One outstanding activity was the part played by tourist group members in making the success of the Pacific Foreign Trade Conference here in September, 1927, when much of your time was devoted to appropriately entertaining the visiting delegates. It is worthy of mention in this report that on that occasion you were very ably assisted by Mrs. R. P. Butchart and Mrs. C. P. Hill."

"In accordance with your instructions we communicated with the Canadian Passenger Agents' Association, requesting their co-operation in arranging that conventions be spread throughout the summer season as much as possible."

"At the instigation of Dan W. Campbell, you investigated the strong opposition encountered by local printers in merchants and others importing cheap Christmas cards from foreign countries. It was evident, however, that such importations could not be prevented providing Customs duties were regularly paid, but that appropriate local propaganda might possibly tend to discourage the use of inferior foreign merchandise."

MOVING PICTURES
"In March of the present year your body was fortunate in securing J. C. Campbell, director of publicity of the national parks branch of the Dominion Government, to exhibit a series of excellent scenic moving pictures showing the development carried out in the interests of preserving the natural attractions of Canadian national parks."

"Mr. Campbell was extremely interested in the proposed development of Strathcona Park on Vancouver Island, and gave us some very interesting and valuable suggestions in this direction."

"During the months of January, February and March of this year we again extended assistance to the Crystal Garden in ensuring the success of Winter entertainments for visitors."

HORSESHOE PITCHES
"A recent proposal for the installation of horseshoe pitches is being investigated at the present time. The chief object of this project being to provide a further form of outdoor entertainment for visitors with a view to lengthening their stay in this city."

RENT BOOST MOVE LACKS REAL UNITY

Real Estate Board Informed Owners Fear Tenants Would Leave

Little progress towards a general increase in rentals has been attained. David Leeming, chairman of a special committee, this afternoon informed the Real Estate Board at the fortnightly luncheon meeting at David Spencer's Limited.

Mr. Leeming reported that many owners of residential property feared increased rentals would result in vacant property. This view was of major importance as a deterrent of a general increase in rents, he considered.

Cuthbert Holmes asked the special committee to continue efforts to work out an equitable basis of increase in rentals, covering business and residential property.

Increases on a scientific basis would possibly cause many tenants to vacate, Fred Landsberg said. He suggested that any increase should be based on the policy of keeping tenants from moving.

COSTLY NEWCOMERS
The attraction of low rentals was an important factor in bringing new residents to the city, recently informed by C. S. Marchant.

Beaumont Boggs cited such an instance, where a woman, with seven children, had moved to the city, rented a home because of the superior schools here. Mr. Boggs believed such newcomers to be a disadvantage to the city.

Mr. Holmes could see no way of avoiding such conditions.

BEACH IMPROVEMENT
The Board is actively pressing for improvement of beaches near the city. A committee, which recently informed the City Council reports that improvement was expected.

T. J. Goodlake stated the work committee of the City Council was favorably disposed towards provision of drinking water facilities on city beaches.

Improvement involves legal questions and control of foreshore, but Mr. Goodlake believed all concerned realize the necessity.

Prevention of deposition of garbage by tidal action was a major subject under review with the works committee of the council.

Plans Are Made For School Empire Tour

London, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press Cable)—Following successful tours of South Africa and Canada, the Empire Tour Committee of Britain has completed arrangements for a voyage around the world.

Under this committee a party of English public school boys toured Canada from August 11 to September 21 last.

The object is to give the youths first hand knowledge of the Empire. On the tour, fifty boys, finishing their education at Christmas, will sail from Southampton on January 4, returning on May 17. They will travel by way of the Panama Canal across the Pacific to New Zealand, touch at Australian ports and return through the Suez Canal, with a day or two at Colombo, Ceylon.

They will also make a short stay in Egypt. It is estimated the cost of the tour will be $750 for each boy.

STOCK MARKET — FINANCIAL NEWS — GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)
Winnipeg, Oct. 19.—Wheat: Was extremely dull again to-day but prices held firm after an early dip of about one-half cent which was quickly recovered. Export or seaboard houses were not in evidence, the small trade passing being all local with a little commission house support on the dips. The main feature was again the small offerings, no hedging coming from elevators.

There was practically no change in conditions to cause either support or increased selling. Low prices restricting pressure while bearish statistics keep one from getting at all enthusiastic on the bull side. There was a good demand for cash wheat, all grades except 3 Nor, during the first part of the day, when shippers were buying against their last half October commitments. Offerings were fairly liberal and the demand became filled up, after which spread on No. 4 and No. 5 fell away half cent. Spreads on the three top grades were about unchanged. Export buying was in evidence and sales were not very great. There was 647,000 bushels of 3 northern delivered into the clearing house, and this was reported to have passed into strong hands. Weather is now favorable over most of the winter wheat belt. Argentine and Australian news continues favorable. It is hard to see where the inspiration for anything more than temporary rallies is to come from at this time.

Course Grains: These markets were again quiet and featureless; barley held fairly steady but oats and rye were weak. The demand to-day was very small. Oats closed 1 1/2 to 1/2 lower, barley 1/2 to 1/2 lower and rye from 1/2 to 1/2 lower.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

Vancouver, Oct. 19.—In a somewhat dull trading session on the Vancouver stock exchange this morning few issues showed any real strength, although some, and notably Grandview, were picked up rapidly in smaller lots. The low prevailing prices of Pend Oreille was still weak, selling at $11, and changing hands in lots that would not average much over 20 to the transaction.

Big Mission was off to $8 and $7 1/2, and Kootenay King held up around $2, but the buying interest was temporarily out of the stocks.

Cork Province stuck at $7 and $7 1/2, Morton Woolsey refused to move much over $7 1/2. Noble Five was very firm at $8. Whitewater was an active trader at about $12, where it was in good demand. Topley was down as far as $2, the lowest Topley has been for some time. Dunell slipped back to $1 and $2, and Lakeview sold at $2 1/2.

George River was a firm trader, bringing around $8 1/2.

Rufus-Arizona has fallen back to $2 after its recent run. Mohawk is off to $7, and Independence is starting to climb back, reaching $12. Friday morning, the oil division was very quiet, although some Payson was picked up at $10 and some Mayland at $15.

Eggs Continue To Rise In Price As Supply Decreases

The limited supply and great demand for fresh extra and first-grade eggs has caused the commodity to rise three cents per dozen on the local market. Pullet eggs have dropped slightly and are now retailing at forty-five cents per dozen. Firsts and extras are being disposed of for sixty and fifty-eight cents respectively for the same amount.

A Story of the Mystic East

The Riddle of Siwa

By DIXON KAYE

Author of "Dr. Burney's Greatest Case."

CHAPTER XV

Seymour calculated when Xenia had left him for the night, that the "Wild-bore" would have a fresh tale to send to Cairo, but he hoped that the man would be discredited.

Seymour now wanted to concentrate on his coming interview with Sir Amroth Milvain. Knowing what he did of the laws of England, he believed that Sir Amroth would tell Xenia that the marriage was impossible; in any case he himself would refuse absolutely.

There were only a few hours more before the ship would reach Southampton; it would be impossible for him to see Sir Amroth the same day, but he could arrange for an interview the day after.

He went down to his cabin, and found Willett, his valet, busy packing. Having ascertained his master's views concerning the suit, he would wear a new day, Willett was departing, when a steward brought a wireless message for Seymour. It was very brief.

"Suite reserved for your Excellency to-morrow, Ritz Hotel, London."

This was one of the surprises which Seymour expected; he took it as a matter of course.

"We are going to the Ritz, Willett," he said.

"Very good, sir," replied the valet, and he would have made the same reply had he been informed that they were going to lodge in the Crystal Palace; such is the effect of custom on the English valet.

The liner was pretty well on time, and reached Southampton about eleven o'clock, but hopelessly too late for Seymour to interview Sir Amroth that day, for Xenia had made a communication to him.

"We must go to different hotels, Seymour," she said with a smile. "Although we are going to be married, we must not stay at the same hotel; it would not be proper," she added, her smile breaking into a little laugh of derision.

Before getting into the train, Seymour sent a wire to Sir Amroth asking for an appointment for the next day, and giving the Ritz as his address.

He was thankful that Xenia was going to another hotel; that, at any rate, would break the connection between them for the time. Situated as he was, he dare not break with her entirely; he did not know what power she had over Abdullah. Between this girl and Abdullah he was placed in a position more difficult and more terrifying than before.

When the train arrived at Waterloo, Seymour took a hasty leave of Xenia, and went off to his hotel.

"I hope," she said as they parted,

"that you have made an appointment with Monsieur Amroth Milvain."

"I have asked him to see us both to-morrow," Seymour answered. "I will let you know at your hotel directly I get his answer."

Xenia went off waving her hand and throwing him kisses, to the great joy of the passengers from the liner who had come to London in the same train.

At the Ritz Seymour found the answer to his telegram.

"Will see you and Mademoiselle Xenia at eleven o'clock to-morrow morning, Amroth Milvain."

Seymour put the wire in his pocket with thankfulness.

"At least I may find a friend in this man to help me in the awful position I am in," he sighed.

He went off and phoned the appointment to Xenia.

CHAPTER XVI

There was nothing of the Mystic about Sir Amroth Milvain, nor his house; the door was opened to Seymour and Xenia the next morning by a very respectable looking English servant.

"Sir Amroth will see you, sir," he said as he showed them into a waiting-room, which was empty, "in a few minutes."

Once inside the house its connection with Egypt asserted itself.

"Sir Amroth seems associated with Egypt," Seymour said to Xenia. "He has many fine specimens here of ancient Egyptian art."

Xenia laughed her little low, mocking laugh.

"There is no one in the world," she answered, "who knows more about Egypt and its wonders than Monsieur Milvain. You can believe what he says," she added.

Seymour had carefully prepared the statement he intended to make to him. He would first present his letter from Abdullah; then hear what he had to tell him. The enforced presence of Xenia was an extra complication of his terrible errand; he did not know how Sir Amroth would receive her.

In the midst of his deep thought about solitude they were shown into the great Egyptologist's room.

Sir Amroth Milvain's presence certainly did not suggest any connection with the occult forces, as Seymour had been led to believe by the letter directed to him by the High Priest.

He was a tall, comfortable-looking man of advanced middle age, with a bald head, a long iron-grey beard, and wore habitually a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles. He might have been a successful doctor, but was in fact a professor at one of the leading universities. He had, however, the touch of an Eastern sun on his face in its shadow.

He did not leave Seymour long in doubt as to how he was going to receive Xenia; he received her as a Princess, bowing low, kissing her hand and holding a chair for her to be seated. He addressed her in Arabic which she seemed perfectly to understand.

"I am greatly honored by your highness visit to my poor house," he said.

"And I am very glad to come," she answered in the same language, showing the beauty of her face in a smile. "It is now quite a long time since I have seen you."

The great man extended his hand to Seymour.

"Do you are Mr. Barham?" he said. "Yes, Sir Amroth," he answered, "and I am the bearer of this letter to you."

He handed him the letter which he had received in the sealed packet.

He was astonished to see this Englishman, who was very low to the ground and touched his forehead with the letter. Seymour knew this was a sign of respect in the East, but why should this English baronet show such respect?

Seymour watched him read the letter, and saw his brow clouding as he did so. Then Sir Amroth turned sharply towards him.

"You speak Arabic?" he asked. "Yes," answered Seymour. "I have spent some years in Egypt and learned it there."

"Then we will speak in Arabic," Sir Amroth answered. "This matter is of far too great importance to be spoken of in English. Walls have ears, as you know," he added. "Are you prepared to carry this matter through?" he asked.

"Yes, I have given my promise to do so," Seymour answered.

"And you are aware of its awful danger?" Sir Amroth continued.

Xenia interrupted, actually smiling. "The danger will be greatly reduced in this case," she said, "but the task will be a difficult one even to us."

Xenia waved her hand as if brushing the subject aside.

"I will take the responsibility," she answered, "and now tell me how soon I and Seymour can be married?"

Sir Amroth thought for a few minutes. "Your Highness and Mr. Barham have just arrived," he asked presently.

"Yes," Xenia replied, "we arrived from Egypt yesterday."

"You cannot marry this gentleman," he answered, "until you have both been in England three weeks. Otherwise the marriage would not be legal."

Xenia laughed scornfully. "Oh, this legality!" she cried, raising her hands. "As if it mattered!"

"It matters much in England," Sir Amroth replied. "The rights and privileges of women here depend upon it. Of course, you could get a Special License."

"What is this?" she asked excitedly. "It can be obtained," the Professor answered, "at Doctor's Commons."

"Write down the address," the Princess demanded, "and I will go there."

Sir Amroth did as he was bidden; he wrote down the familiar address of the ancient Institution under the shadow of St. Paul's, whose activities had passed away, leaving only an office for Marriage Licenses.

The Princess rose as she took the slip of paper.

"I will go to this place," she said. "But you, Seymour, must not come. I will go alone. You stay and talk to Egypt with Monsieur Sir Amroth, who kissed, and Seymour, perforce, did the same; then the respectable English butler, who had been summoned, bowed the Princess to the door."

As soon as she had gone and Sir Amroth had heard the front door close, he turned to Seymour.

"What evil fate," he asked, "determined you to go to the Pyramid of Siwa?"

"I was told of it," Seymour answered, "by a very old man out in the desert. I am fond of adventure. I determined to go and see its wonders."

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

"Hey! What has happened? Goodness me!" cried Scouty, "just where can we be?" Our little sparrow's flown away. He's far, far out of sight. And look! Our plane is perched up high upon a mountain top. Oh, my, we're left in quite a risky fix. We're in for it all right."

Then Coppy joined in and said, "It's funny we don't go ahead, and topple down the mountain. I'm so scared I'm really weak. Our poor old sparrow surely tried to keep us on this wondrous ride, but when some shots rang out I guess 'twas better that he sneaked."

"But, look, there is no need to fret. No real harm's happened to us yet. Our plane is perched upon the peak. I do not think 'twill slip." That's the trouble, Carpy said. "Why, we can't even go to bed. Where could we sleep? It's our own fault for starting on this trip."

The whole bunch sat and thought a while. They knew they were at least a mile from level ground. This surely was an awful break of luck. How could they get to earth again? Of course the whole bunch, now and then, got in some bad predicament, but this time they were stuck.

"I think that we can get away. Let's all move forward on the plane and try to make it slide. If we do this, with our good cars, and our plane out in the air, I'm sure we'll keep it level so 'twill take a graceful glide."

The plan was tried, and in a bit they found that they were moving it. It started tipping forward. Then it left the mountain peak. Out in the air, left safe and sound, it glided downward toward the ground. The Tinkies were so tickled that they all began to shriek.

old umbrella. Mr. Longears?" cawed Old Crow.

"It is no good any more," answered the rabbit, "and I am going to throw it away."

"Then please throw it up to my nest, if you can toss it that far!" begged Old Crow. "The umbrella may be too old for you but it will make a fine roof for my nest since I am going to live here all Winter."

"Are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Then you may have this umbrella and welcome. I'll toss it up." But the tree of the crown's nest was high and the rabbit could not toss the umbrella far enough. Three times he tried but each time the umbrella fell back to the ground. At last Old Crow cawed:

"Wait until there comes a strong puff of wind! Then throw the umbrella and the wind will carry it up to my nest."

So Uncle Wiggily waited and soon with his tossing and the wind blowing the umbrella sailed high up and, opening, fell over the Crow's Nest like a cork tent. The handle stuck in the crotch of a tree and was held firmly there so that now Old Crow had a roof over his head.

"How is that?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Much obliged! Now the rain will not splatter on me nor will the snow get in my feathers and give me a chill. Thank you so much. You did me a big favor."

"I am glad I could," answered Mr. Longears. "The umbrella was of no use to me, but I am glad you can use it."

Surely enough the next time it rained the crow was as dry as an ice-cream cone beneath the umbrella roof over his nest. And when it snowed none of the white flakes drifted in. So with that and the milkweed fluff lining Old Crow thought he could live through the Winter very well.

But one night all of a sudden, Old Crow awakened under his umbrella covered nest and he thought to himself:

"My goodness I should have offered to do Uncle Wiggily a favor to pay him for the favor he did for me in tossing up this umbrella. How careless and unkind of me to forget this thing in the morning I'll fly to his bungalow and offer to do him a favor to pay him back."

Old Crow could hardly wait for morning to come he was so anxious. And what he did tell you in the next story which will be about Uncle Wiggily and the crow's favor, that is if the lemon pie doesn't try to turn into a strawberry shortcake and make the rolling pin laugh.

MILTON CLEANS YOUR FALSE TEETH PERFECTLY

LEAVE THEM IN MILTON WHILE YOU SLEEP OR DRESS

The Milton methods are simplicity itself: Just this while you sleep—If you take out your plate at night, add half-a-teaspoonful of Milton to the glass or cup of cold water in which you leave it. In the morning rinse it in clean cold water. Or this while you dress—If you sleep with your false teeth in, put them, on rising, into a glass containing equal parts of Milton and warm water (just enough fluid to cover the plate). When you are dressed, take them out, rinse and wipe.

In both cases the result will be—teeth glistening, gold parts glittering, not a trace of "film," food or grease, and a plate utterly free from infection. Not the slightest harm to the plate, teeth or mouth (ask your dentist). Of all dealers, 35¢, 65¢ or $1.

To-morrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1928
Good aspects rule to-day, according to astrology which finds the horoscope favorable to most human interests.

It is pre-eminently a day for winding up business matters and especially favorable to the settlement of debts.
Bankers and business men should bring good luck to those who consult them or do business with them.
All the signs seem to promise much stimulation of commercial enterprise through far-reaching co-operation.
Many wise men and women will assure fortune, the seers foretell, as employees rather than as independent business factors.

If the stars are rightly read, "princeps" marrieds are to multiply in the next few years and women are to benefit as well as men.
This is read as a lucky wedding day, making for harmony and understanding rather than quick property.
This should be an auspicious rule under which to begin a long journey by water.

Disturbed foreign visitors will be entertained in New York and San Francisco next month, it is foretold.
Lawyers are to profit at this time when many important legal questions are said to be formulated. The seers foretell many international problems.
Growth of many coast towns and cities is foretold for the coming year when both the Pacific and Atlantic seaboard are to prosper exceedingly.

This should be a day favorable to young students of both sexes. Honors soon are to come to many who are now within the influence of the American universities, and professors prosper.
Under this direction of the stars housewives should benefit for relief from certain economic ills indicated.
Persons whose birthdate it is should be aware of possible losses in the coming year. There is a sign read as pressing robbery or forcery as likely for certain subjects of this sign of Libra.

Children, born on this day, probably will be exceedingly ambitious and given to the sort of imagination that pictures the success in life. These subjects of Libra also may partake of George traits which impart great vitality. They should be vigorous thinkers and may have remarkable skill in the use of the hands.

How Hollywood Is Breaking Its Silence—No. 5— ACTORS SPLIT ON TALKIES

Clara Bow Declares Sound-Films Are "Lot of Hokey"

By DAN THOMAS
Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 19.—What will become of our present crop of motion picture stars if talking films remain in vogue?
That is the question in Hollywood these days. When Warner Brothers came out with their first Vitaphone production about two years ago, actors and actresses alike condemned it. They feared speaking films would throw them out of jobs.

As yet not a player in Hollywood has suffered because of the talkies. Many old-timers have staged come-backs. But most of the folk out here whose faces are their fortunes would like to see the producers forget all about dialogue in films. And many have their opposition to talkies on logical reasons.

"I would like to make a talking picture although I do not think they will long remain popular with fans," says Sally Eilers, who far outshines the 1928 crop of newcomers.
"But I think the producers are going at this talking business all wrong. They think too much of voice and not enough of screen personality and acting ability."
"Many stage stars look marvelous behind the footlights. But when their faces are enlarged twenty or thirty times in a closeup, their appearance is far different. Producers don't think of that, however. The voice is good and all other necessary qualities are forgotten."

WHAT CHAPLIN SAYS
Charlie Chaplin, who is the king of pantomime, does not oppose sound effects, but he dislikes dialogue in films tremendously.

"The art of pantomime is complete.
It doesn't need words," says Chaplin.
"If we put speech into motion pictures we are complicating something that has taken us years to simplify. I will never use dialogue in my pictures. I can say far more with a gesture than I can with words."
"I do not believe the advent of dialogue has changed pictures nearly as much as most persons seem to think," says Lionel Barrymore, known for years as one of the finest actors on both stage and screen. "A voice is not as important as the gray matter and personality behind it. Even an unpleasant voice can be made pleasant by a pleasant personality. Personality has always been the prime factor on the screen and it always will be, dialogue or no dialogue."

THOMSON ENACTS A DOUBLE ROLE IN THIS picture. For one he is known in this picture as a black-masked rider of the plains mounted on a black horse, and the other as being an unconcerned wayfarer, who is looked upon mostly as being a little "queer." In reality, however, he is a captain of Rangers, that famous body of hard-riding men who have so admirably written several thrilling pages in the pioneer history of America.

JAXON PLAYERS IN MATINEE TO-MORROW AT THE COLISEUM

With two performances to-morrow, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, the Lee Jaxon Players will close the present week with their current attraction, "A Hawaiian Romance."
This little play of life on a famous Waikiki Beach has been drawing large audiences to the Coliseum Theatre nightly and all who have seen the popular group this week are well satisfied with Victoria's present stock company. This week's stage presentation was written by Lee Jaxon, leader of the players, and is woven around a love affair of the Hawaiian Islands, that of a European boy and a native dancer of the beaches. Miss Dorothy Raymond is at her best as the native dancer and Lee Jaxon plays the role of the youth.

REGINALD DENNY PLAYING LEAD IN VARIETY PICTURE

"Good Morning, Judge," which is at the Variety Theatre to-day, proves a decided treat for movie goers. It is a Reginald Denny feature and is his best so far.
It tops "Skinner's Dress Suit," "On Your Toes" and others of the Universal star's popular comedy hits. The handsome Denny is seen at his best and he romps through the scenes scattering laughs and sparkling humor on every side.
The climax, which is a fight between Denny and two crooks, makes up for any lack of tense situations in the early part of the picture. It is as thrill-

Four cinema celebrities give various views of the talkies. Top to bottom

Eilers and Emil Jennings.

Jolson and Chaplin Differ Radically On Subject

FLAPPER QUEEN SPEAKS
Clara Bow, red-headed queen of moevism, thinks that talking pictures are a lot of hokey. They can't possibly last, she says. And adds:
"Dialogue will reduce the quality of acting about fifty per cent. If actors must think about what they are going to say, they can't give their full attention to their performance. A few players in Hollywood might be able to do that, but most can't. And the producers can't suddenly bring in an entire new crop of actors."
"The movie set, at best, is a cold place to work. And when the sound pictures rob us of our music while we are working, it will be hard to give our best performance. I find it much harder to go through a particularly emotional scene when I know every word I am saying is being recorded."

LLOYD HAS FAITH
Harold Lloyd is convinced that dialogue in motion pictures is here to stay. In his opinion spoken words will speed up the action in films. Heretofore titles have been injected to cover up slow spots. With dialogue that will be invariable. Consequently stories will have to be fast moving and should be more entertaining.
"I am about neutral on the subject," remarked Emil Jennings. "I do not think spoken words will ever aid me to convey a thought on the screen.
either do I think they will be detrimental. Naturally I will have an accident when I speak. But my characters wouldn't speak perfect English anyway."

Alterations Planned For Several Large Homes in
This City
Plans are being prepared by S. Mac-Lure, well-known local architect, for a country house which will shortly be built on the West Saanich Road and overlooking Saanich Arm. It will be a large residence of the customary Mac-Lure design and will contain ten rooms.
The site is a splendidly attractive one, is part of the old Thompson farm on the Saanich peninsula.
Construction will start immediately the plans and specifications have been finally approved by the owner, the architect states.

ALTERING HOMES
Mr. MacLure announced to-day that he had placed a contract with H. Leggett, Davis Street contractor, for alterations and additions to the residence of Comte, Jean de Suzannet on Denison Road. This contract involves the addition of several rooms.
Col. L. B. Irving, formerly of Toronto, who will in future make his residence in Victoria, recently purchased a home on Poughkeepsie Road. Plans for the remodeling of this home are now being prepared by Mr. MacLure, who will shortly invite bids for the completion of the work. Mr. MacLure is also preparing plans for alterations and additions to the homes of Richard Angus and E. C. Senkler.

EARLY PARKING IS UNDER FIRE

City Asks Police Commission
For Enforcement of New
By-law

Restaurant Owners Seek Concession For Early Morning Patrons

Parking of automobiles on city street between the hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m., prohibited under a recent by-law, must be stopped if the city's Elgin street sweeper is to operate successfully, the City Police Commission was informed in a letter from the City Council yesterday.
The communication pointed out that on one morning 100 cars had been counted on the downtown streets between these hours.
Commissioner W. E. Steneland suggested that additions to the police force to maintain a traffic department operating all night would be necessary to give full enforcement to the rule.

NOW ENFORCED
Chief John Fry stated that lack of men during the vacation periods had been the cause of lack of enforcement of the by-law. But during the last two weeks the regulation had been enforced. No prosecutions had yet been made as only first offenders had been apprehended and warned.
Proprietors of the Poodle Dog Cafe, in a letter to the commission, pointed out that a considerable amount of their business was done between the hours of 2 a.m. and 4 a.m., and that their customers would be affected by the regulation. They asked a special concession for patrons of the restaurant, during these hours.

CAN ONE EAT?
"Does this mean then that after a man has been to a ball or something and goes in to eat, he cannot park his car outside?" asked Mr. Steneland.
"The by-law says no," said Chief Fry.
On Mr. Steneland's motion, the letter from the Poodle Dog Cafe was referred to the City Council.

Years ago, he added, lime was almost exclusively used for building purposes.
To-day about seventy per cent of the production from his own plant is used in chemical production. The pulp and paper mills of British Columbia use large quantities of lime, as do the mines, utilizing it in the flotation system. There is only one company in British Columbia producing lime, and it ships large quantities of it to Ma-on land for sugar cane growing. The market for lime is growing, he said, as the chemical industry expands.
